Elizabethtown Water Asking for Increase Of 17.9% in August

The Elizabethtown Water Company has filed a petition with the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities (BPU) for a 17.9 percent rate increase. If granted the increase would go into effect August 1 and the company would receive $12.1 million more in annual revenue.

According to Henry S. Patterson III, Elizabethtown vice president for human resources and public relations, one third of this amount, or $3.9 million, would cover the cost of new construction. The company expects to increase its rate base in terms of routine and major construction projects by $20.8 million by June 30, 1989, the cut-off date for the test year for this petition.

As Mr. Patterson explains it, utilities are not allowed to "collect in advance" to offset costs associated with future needs. Instead, they must establish a "test year" in which to demonstrate their need for a rate increase. "Rates are based on what you have in the ground, what's being used and useful," he says.

Some $6.8 million of the $20.8 million which is expected to be added to the rate base is budgeted for major projects in the service area south of the company's Raritan-Millstone treatment plant. The municipalities within this area include Hillsborough, Montgomery, the two Princetons, West Windsor, Plainsboro, some parts of Somerset and Bridgewater, a small contract with the Lawrence Water Company, and Kingston.

Following the water pressure crisis in hydrants in the Central Business District last summer, and a lack of water in upper stories of Princeton University buildings and at the Russell Estates, the two

Campus Group Cancels Farrakhan Talk; Cites Inability to Raise Security Fees

The speech by controversial Black Muslim leader Louis Farrakhan has been cancelled by Princeton University's Organization for Black Unity (OBU). Citing resistance by the University administration to his appearance, OBU leaders announced they could not pay the University's security requirement by the deadline set.

OBU Vice President Demitry Hopkins said the University had not notified her about a February 3 deadline for the required $8,000 in security fees until it was too late to raise the money. She said the University had originally estimated security costs at $5,000 to $6,000.

The group had invited Minister Farrakhan to speak February 12, in observance of Black History Month. It had raised his speaking fee of $10,000, but could not come up with the additional $8,000 by the deadline.

University officials estimated that it would take 40 University security officers, 12 Borough policemen, and two metal detectors to provide adequate security. It is also understood that Mr. Farrakhan requires all members of his audience to be searched.

Associate Dean of Students Muriel Whitcomb said that the University sometimes helps pay for security, but that in this case the cost was prohibitive.

Before last Thursday's cancellation, Hillel, the campus Jewish organization, announced plans to educate the Univer-

Traffic Light Planned At 4-Way Intersection

Because of the closing of the Carter Road bridge over Stony Brook and the heavy volume of detoured traffic expected through the intersection of Cherry Valley Road and The Great Road, a temporary traffic light will be installed at the intersection. Currently, cars must come to a full stop at each leg of the four-way intersection before proceeding through it.

Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser has been meeting with officials of Mercer County and Somerset County, Princeton Township and Montgomery Township, and the State to work out an agreement as to which entity will be responsible for what aspects of installing the new light. The boundary between Montgomery and

Regional School Board Determined to Reduce Projected 1989 Budget

The Princeton Regional School Board is determined to bring the Township school tax below ten percent when it adopts the preliminary 1989 school budget at its Tuesday night meeting, which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at Valley Road. Currently, the Township's projected increase is 11 percent, to $1.57 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Because of apportionment, the Borough's school tax will also be cut proportionately. It is expected to be slightly below the five percent currently projected. A five percent increase would bring the Borough school tax to $1.48.

School Business Administrator Robert Rader said that cuts in the budget are in the process of being made. "We are cutting every line item, including staff, equipment, supplies and overtimes."

He added that the administration is attempting to cut equally on a line item basis. "We think we can do it without destroying any programs," he said.

Mr. Rader said that, because of high enrollments, staff cuts at the elementary schools will not involve teachers. However, they may involve support personnel.

But it's different at the middle school and high school, where school populations have grown far less than at the elementary level. "There we have to look at classroom teachers," he said.

The schools are waiting for the results of an appeal to increase State aid to education. Although the appeal might bring more aid, "we can't budget on it," stated Mr. Rader. "My guess is that if there is more aid money, it will go to reduce taxes further."

There had been some discussion of removing $400,000

Carter Road

Princeton, and between Somerset County and Mercer County runs along Cherry Valley Road.

Cherry Valley Road is a Township Road, but the Great Road becomes a Somerset County Road once it passes the four-way intersection. Mercer County is involved because Carter Road is a County road, and Mercer County is repairing the bridge.

According to Mr. Kiser, the State Department of Transportation is designing the signalization and warning signage; Somerset County will remove the existing road striping and paint new stripes, Mercer County will install the light; Princeton will put in utility poles and pay for the electricity required by the light, and Montgomery will provide a police officer for manual control of the traffic signal during peak hours.

Mr. Kiser expects the traffic light to be operational by early next week. It will be removed when the Carter Road bridge is re-opened to traffic in December. The expected date for re-opening is December 2, the same day that the new Harrison Street bridge is expected to be ready for traffic.

At Township Committee meeting last Monday, Committeewoman Janet Mitchell asked Mr. Kiser about the signs posted at either end of Pretty Brook Road/Cleveland Road noting that the road is closed to local traffic. The signs have been a source of confusion, Mrs. Mitchell said.

Encountering the signs for the first time, residents are first concerned that something drastic has befallen their road. Annoyed when they discover nothing at all has taken place, they wonder why the signs are there. Other residents, Mrs. Mitchell reported, think that Pretty Brook residents somehow have "conned" the authorities into putting up signs so that their road will not have the traffic other areas are experiencing. Committeeman Thomas Poole predicted that other areas might also ask for signs to discourage through traffic in a neighborhood.

Discouraging Drivers. Mr. Kiser explained that Mercer County had asked that the signs be placed at either end of Pretty Brook Road/Cleveland Road in order to "discourage" drivers from using that narrow, winding artery as a short-cut to the official detour. The County has specified Cherry Valley Road to Elm Road to Route 206 south, or vice versa as the detour.

Sitting in the audience to ask questions about the Township budget, Dr. Harvey Weingarten suggested that the sign at the Princeton end of Pretty Brook/Cleveland Road should be placed on The Great Road rather than 100 feet along Pretty Brook. Other motorists note that the sign on Carter Road Road says there is no thoroughfare beyond the AT&T installation, whereas, coming from Hopewell, one could continue south to make a right turn on Elm Ridge Road.

Mr. Kiser said he would discuss the problems with the Mercer County engineering department.

School Tax

from the capital outlay budget and raising the money through bonding. This is the amount needed for radon testing and for the removal of asbestos and underground tanks from the schools and grounds.

The Board, however, has decided to keep the $400,000 in the budget. Members were concerned, said Mr. Rader, that there would be a need for a construction bond later in the year, and did not want to bond twice.

Bonding would no doubt be necessary if the school board were to construct an addition to the Johnson Park School to meet increasing enrollment — a possibility now under serious discussion. (See adjoining box.)

This year's preliminary school budget will be $20.9 million for operating expenses and $400,000 for capital outlay, about nine percent higher than last year's budget.

By State law, the Board of Education must adopt a preliminary budget Tuesday night. A series of public meetings on the document will be scheduled after that date. March 23 is the deadline for the adoption of the actual 1989 school budget, which will come before the voters in the April 4 School Board election.

Is There a New School in Princeton's Future?

Population trends and an increase in enrollment have a School Board committee eyeing such possibilities as adding more classrooms to Johnson Park School or turning John Witherspoon Middle School into an elementary school and building a new middle school.

"When I looked at enrollment projections, actual births, and enrollment in the two years since the Board's demographic study, I can say that we will not only need Johnson Park, but more than Johnson Park, in the next five years," said Joel Cooper, a School Board member and chairman of the Enrollment Study Group.

The group — composed of school staff, board members, and members of the community — will meet next on March 8. It is expected to make its recommendations to the School Board in May.

Mr. Cooper said it might be better to convert John Witherspoon and build a new middle school, which would be built to State standards. "The middle school has a substandard gym, library, and playing fields," he said. "It would not be approved today."

A possible site for a new school would be land owned by the Township near Snowden Lane. "Or the schools might have to purchase land from private owners," said Mr. Cooper.

A year ago, the Board decided that the fifth graders would return to the three elementary schools in the 1990-91 school year. This made the opening of Johnson Park — Princeton's fourth elementary school, closed eight years ago because of declining enrollment — a virtual certainty. However, nothing was said at that time of the need for more space than Johnson Park could provide.

Mercer County Cross-Acceptance Meetings Only Ones in State to Be Open to the Public

Two dozen interested Princeton residents were on hand last Thursday as Borough Council, Township Committee and members of the Regional Planning Board held a joint meeting to review the cross-acceptance process. Cross-acceptance is a key aspect in preparing the final version of the State Planning Commission's Redevelopment and Development Guide Plan which was issued in draft form last January.

"It's not as formidable as it might have seemed," Borough Councilman Marvin Reed told the audience. "The State has not handed us a plan and told us this is what we have to do. There is a tier map made up of existing master plans, and we are to say whether or not we agree.

"The plan is not going to answer the question, 'how much do we grow?' " Mr. Reed continued. "In fact, it begs the question. It's more about how we relate to towns around us." Mr. Reed and Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie represent the Borough on the 22-member Mercer County Cross-Acceptance Committee made up of representatives of all 13 municipalities within the County, except Trenton and Hightstown, which have evidently decided not to participate.

Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand and Deputy Mayor Kate Litvack are the Township representatives. Princeton is also represented by Margen Penick and Hans Sander of the Regional Planning Board and by Duggan Kimball, planning director for the two municipalities. This gives Princeton more representation than any other municipality on the committee. East Windsor, Ewing and Hamilton are each sending one representative; Hopewell Borough, Hopewell Township, Lawrence, Pennington, Washington and West Windsor are each sending two.

Public Meetings. The Mercer County Cross-Acceptance Committee has decided to make all its meetings open to the public, and is the only county cross-acceptance committee to do so. Meetings will be held on a monthly basis, and perhaps more often as necessary. The next one is Thursday, February 16, at 7 p.m. at Mercer County Community College. The public is welcome to observe the business session and will be invited to comment at specific times during the meeting.

In addition there will be several public meetings specifically designed to gather public input. The first of these, co-sponsored with the Office of State Planning, is scheduled for Thursday, March 30. There will be afternoon and evening sessions, at 3 p.m. and again at 7 p.m. to secure the maximum imput.

These meetings will be organized as "information centers" allowing the public to look at the tier and factor maps and ask questions on a one-to-one basis. The puhlic will also have the opportunity to make comments. Similar meetings will be held as the draft cross-acceptance report is heing prepared, and in June before the required public hearing on the report.

Donna Lewis, principal planner in the Mercer County Planning Division and the lead person in the cross-acceptance process, was present last week to outline the schedule for Princeton elected officials and residents. Ms. Lewis described three phases.

Comparison Phase. The first, called the comparison phase, is scheduled to last six months. During this phase, all the plans, goals, policies, strategies, zoning ordinances — "anything that relates to land use," as Ms. Lewis puts it — of each municipality are compared with each other and with those of the county to see where there are similarities and where differences.

The county then writes a report, due in June, which is submitted to the State. The comparison phase is not designed to result in a plan that has to be adhered to, but rather it is to help the municipalities "re-evaluate" their own zoning and to encourage them to look at land use on a regional scale, Ms. Lewis explained.

The report is subject to public meetings and has to be endorsed by the county freeholders. It is the county's report, Ms. Lewis emphasized, not the municipalities', and will contain recommendations on changes — perhaps changes in State policy. A municipality may file a dissenting report if it wishes.

During the next phase, which Ms. Lewis called the negotiating phase, the State Planning Commission prepares an interim plan, presumably based on the reports from all the counties. Ms. Lewis did not elaborate on this phase, or the third, which she called the issue resolution phase. "Ideally it results in a plan that the majority can buy into," was her one comment on the end of the process.

To the Year 2010. The process is designed to look ahead to the year 2010. "We have to look at the levels of growth [that are projected] and see if they make sense for the year 2010," Ms. Lewis said. "How much growth are we going to get, how much growth do we want, and the general densities."

She explained that the second version of the draft State Guide Plan was not specific about densities and numbers as the first one was, and therefore had more flexibility to it. The growth tier boundaries could be changed, she suggested. An area could be designated a "corridor center" and receive financial benefits from the State, "but nobody is going to force Route 1 [on you]," she added.

Picnic with Soviets

The community is invited to an indoor picnic to meet and mingle with 11 Soviet exchange students who are studying at Princeton Day School and living with area families. The get-together is scheduled for Sunday from 1 to 3 at the YWCA-YMCA on Paul Robeson Place.

Informal and free of charge, the event will commemorate a historic student exchange between the United States and the Soviet Union. PDS, one of 30 schools across the country participating in this program, will send 10 students to Moscow at the end of the month.

The public is invited to bring a picnic lunch and a blanket, although hot dogs, soda and Thomas Sweet ice cream will be available for purchase.

Entertainment by PDS students also is scheduled.

Duggan Kimball, Princeton's professional planner, told the audience that although it was early in the process, "we're getting a good feeling for the overall philosophy." He defined that philosophy as redirecting growth from urban sprawl — "a pattern of undifferentiated growth I don't think we would want to bequeath to our children" — into two areas: the central older cities and the villages, hamlets and corridor centers.

Princeton's Tiers. Mr. Kimball called the tier designation a technique for accomplishing this goal. He said that Princeton falls into three tiers. The Borough is classified as tier two — the "stable cities and suburbs" designation — whereas the Township falls into tier 4, "suburbanizing" areas, or tier 5, "exurban reserve."

Reading from volume 2 of the draft State plan, he noted the critical issues for tier 2 are "maintaining the character of the community, maintaining infrastructure, and possible fiscal distress in the future." Tier 4 includes areas experiencing or about to experience significant growth, in which the growth patterns are fixed, but there is some vacant land and there is infrastructure, especially sewers.

Critical issues for this tier are the increased demand for infrastructure, increased traffic and the need for comprehensive planning. "Exurban reserve," the northern Township, lies beyond the more densely developed lands and may be suitable for new development. The issues include controlling infrastructure demands and resolving land use conflicts.

In reponse to comments from elected officials questioning whether the plan or the process has any "teeth" or is merely lofty-sounding words, Mr. Kimball pointed out that State funding for infrastructure in the future will probably be predicated on the plan, and that the plan will serve as a guide to State agencies as to when roads and sewers will be funded. Therein lie the "teeth," he suggested.

Municipalities are not required to participate in cross-acceptance, but those that do not give up their rights to file a dissenting report, Ms. Lewis said.

Support to Local Planning. Mr. Kimball also said that the plan could serve as a support to local planning and as a "buttress" when zoning is challenged by a developer. There was much discussion about the concept of "corridor centers," which to members of the audience brought negative images of "the Route One Corridor."

However, it was explained that the concept is to create a different pattern from that of Route 1, which is linear, single-use, relatively low-density development along the highway. The preferred concept is a mixed use, high-intensity center for a square mile or so and then an abrupt dropoff to rural low intensity agricultural use or preserved open space.

No prototype for this type of development currently exists in Mercer County, it was said, and it was conceived partly as a way of concentrating whatever growth is allowed to occur in the southern part of the State, at county cross-roads.

There was also discussion of the population and employment statistics which will be used to make growth projections — which are accurate and which are not. Mrs. Penick assured all present that the designated representatives would make sure "reasonable" numbers are used. She also assured everyone that thus far all seven members of the Princeton delegation seem to "share in the same vision of Princeton" and there has been no dissension among them.

Alcohol Toll in Sign-Ins Far Less Than in 1988

In contrast to the 45 Princeton University students treated for alcohol-related illnesses during sign-in weekend last year, nine were admitted to McCosh infirmary during club sign-ins this past weekend. University administrators called the improvement "significant."

Sign-ins are the registering by sophomores at the University's eight privately owned open eating clubs on Prospect Avenue.

Three of the students were admitted to McCosh Friday night. Six were admitted Saturday. Two of the six were transported to the Princeton Medical Center, but they were released to McCosh after several hours of observation.

In accordance with an Open Club Council agreement, the eight clubs were reported to have not served alcohol on Saturday night. Where the students obtained the alcohol is currently under investigation by Borough police.

"We are looking into the matter to see if there were any violations," said Capt. Thomas Michaud. "If our investigation uncovers sufficient evidence to make any charges, we will do so."

During last year's sign-in, six University students were taken to the hospital Saturday night, one in a coma in critical condition. Thirty-nine more were treated at McCosh.

Following these incidents, Borough police filed charges against five club officers and two clubs for serving alcohol to underaged persons.

While the situation at sign-ins showed a clear improvement, a recent student newspaper poll at Princeton High School found that 58 percent of PHS students drank alcohol without a parent's knowledge during the month preceding the January 12 distribution of the questionnaire. Twenty-four percent said they do not drink alcohol.

During that month, drinking was reported by 73 percent of seniors, 76 percent of juniors, 48 percent of sophomores, and 42 percent of freshmen.

The survey showed that PHS seniors drink more than the national average. A National Institute on Drug Abuse survey reported that, nationwide, 67 percent of seniors in the class of 1984 said they had used alcohol within the past 30 days.

Accounting Discs Stolen: 15 Are Valued at $1,500

Fifteen SBT Corporation original accounting discs were reported stolen last week from an Alexander Street office. Township police said the 5¼-inch discs were valued at $1,500. There were no signs of a forced entry.

Two items have been reported stolen from the Griggs Farm condominium construction site off State Road.

A $900 generator, owned by a Hamilton Township construction firm, was taken from a garage on the site where it had been stored, and a Township resident working at the site reported the theft of his 20-inch chain saw valued at $408.05.

a.m. while the restaurant was still open.

A wallet containing $140 and miscellaneous items worth $50 were stolen from a purse that an employee had left Sunday in an office in Clayton's on Palmer Square.

A brown leather bomber jacket valued at $250 was stolen Sunday afternoon from a second-floor coat room in Tiger Inn on Prospect Avenue. In the jacket were a pair of gloves and a wallet worth a combined $60.

In a second coat theft, a resident of Pennsylvania told police that his Harris Tweed topcoat valued at $200 had been stolen from a rack while he was dining Saturday in the Nassau Inn. In the coat's pockets were a $45 cashmere scarf and a $75 pair of leather gloves.

Two parking meter heads valued at $350 were removed last week from their posts on University Place, and three bundles of assorted newspapers to be returned for credit were stolen from the porch of Wadsworth's Gourmet Bakery at 179 Nassau Street. The papers were valued at $60.

While the 1987 sedan of a Princeton Medical Center employee was parked in the employees' lot off Franklin Avenue Friday morning, someone broke a window to remove a radar detector valued at $200. A Princeton University graduate student reported the theft of a $180 radio-cassette player from his 1980 Volkswagen while it was parked last week in a University lot off Olden Street near the engineering quadrangle. Police report the driver's side door was unlocked but the thief damaged the dashboard in prying the cassette player loose.

There were three bicycle thefts in the Borough last week. An unlocked, 10-speed black Fuji valued at $300 was taken from a rack outside Witherspoon Hall on the University campus; a silver Schwinn mountain bike, also unlocked, valued at $200, was taken from in front of Dillon Gym where the owner, police said, had run into the gym and returned in 30 seconds; and a red men's 10-speed model valued at $100 was stolen Sunday between 6:30 and 7:30 from inside a yard gate on Dickinson Street. It was not locked.

A condom machine in the 6th entry men's room in Patton Hall on the University campus was broken into last week and an undetermined number of condoms taken. Police report that the thief damaged the machine but was unable to break into its coin box.

Resident Is Charged In Market Shoplifting

A 47-year-old Township resident, Teresa Soto of 406 Ewing Street, has been charged with shoplifting by Township police.

According to Lt. Mario Musso, Ms. Soto was pushing a cart in the Super Fresh Store in the Princeton Shopping Center last week when the manager observed some items in her cart. When he looked again, he noticed that the items on top were missing. He confronted her. After questioning, Ms. Soto allegedly produced from her pocketbook a pair of panty hose, a pair of rubber gloves, a bottle of olive oil and a container of chicken bouillon cubes worth a combined $9.16.

Ms. Soto was charged and released. At a hearing in Township court this week, her case was postponed until March 8.

Two pairs of sneakers worth a total of $95 were stolen Friday afternoon from a display table in Hulit's Shoes, 140 Nassau Street. There are four suspects.

Employees told police that the only ones who had an opportunity to steal the sneakers were a group of four black teenagers who had been hovering around the sale table. The sneakers were discovered missing within a few minutes after the group had left.

The youths were described as between 15 and 18. Three wore bright-colored ski jackets and one was wearing a white jacket. Three had on knit ski hats.

A half-hour later, around 4 p.m., the same group was inside the Wawa Store on University Place. According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, an employee, who was not working at the time, observed the youth wearing the white jacket take two rolls of film and conceal them in the waistband of his pants.

He told the suspect to put the film back. He complied and the group left the store. The manager called police and supplied the same description: four black youths, 15 to 17, three wearing bright ski jackets, two of whom had knapsacks. A fourth suspect had on a white ski jacket and was carrying a dark-colored knapsack.

Apartment Is Entered Twice on Pine Street

An apartment in a Pine Street building was entered on two separate occasions last week, Borough police report.

During the weekend, someone entered the apartment overnight and took $45 from a bedroom. Nothing else was taken. The victim told police that her door had been locked but police described the lock as not very secure. There was no sign of a forced entry.

Earlier in the week, the apartment had been entered through an unlocked door, police said, and approximately $15 in change stored in a cup on top of a dresser was stolen. Nothing else was disturbed.

Driver, 15, Is Stopped; Mother Blames Bad Back

Township Ptl. Sean Reed stopped a Ford van on Leigh Avenue last Tuesday evening because he felt the driver was too young to be behind the wheel.

When the officer asked the driver for his license, he learned that he was a 15-year-old unlicensed juvenile. Sitting along side the youth was his 42-year-old mother.

Why, asked Ptl. Reed, was she allowing her son to drive? She replied: "Because I have a bad back and can't move."

Ptl. Reed charged the Township resident with allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle. Lt. Mario Musso commented that possible juvenile charges against the driver are pending.

SIGN TO BE RETURNED: The Nassau Inn as photographed circa 1937, with its sign intact. The 2 by 15 foot hand-painted wooden sign was removed mysteriously shortly after this photograph was taken and has recently turned up. It will be returned to the inn in a ceremony sponsored by the Princeton Class of '37. The ceremony will take place at The Nassau Inn at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, February 18.

Large Window Cracked At Nassau St. Laundry

A six-by-six-foot window at the Wash-O-Mat located behind the Wawa Store at 259 Nassau Street was broken last week.

Police said that there were large spider cracks in the window but it is not known what caused them. The vandalism took place between 10 and 10:30 Thursday evening.

While a 1985 Audi was parked Thursday in the driveway of its Cleveland Lane owner, someone, police said, punched a one-inch hole above the left front door handle. The suspect unlocked the door but did not take anything.

A NORSE GOD AND GODDESS make merry at the Mayor's Magical Mardi Gras. They are Betty and Pat Curtiss of Princeton.

Mayor's Mardi Gras A Fundraising Success

Mayor Barbara Sigmund took the Mardi Gras hoopla of her New Orleans childhood and transplanted it to the Hyatt Regency-Princeton Saturday night. The Mayor's Magical Mardi Gras, organized to raise at least $75,000 toward her possible bid for the Governorship, drew 750 guests and raised more than $85,000.

It also brought to town more floats, flashing lights, satin-costumed revelers, balloons and streamers than are usually seen by people accustomed to Gothic and ivy.

The lighted marquee in the front of the Hyatt's Grand Ballroom blinked "Testing the Waters" — which was exactly what the Mayor was doing. Having exceeded her goal of raising $75,000 locally, she will now go forward to other fund-raising sources. If she can raise another $75,000, she will then be eligible for two-for-one State financing for her campaign.

Time, however, is short. The gubernatorial primary is June 6, and Congressman Jim Florio has a huge lead over all other contenders. But Mayor Sigmund is hoping that Party leaders will take a second look at the candidates, and she is offering the success of her fund raiser as one strong reason to look at her.

The Mayor said she will announce by the end of February whether she will enter the primary.

next month to $20.95. The current monthly rate is $18.95.

This increase, on top of the increase from $15 to $18.95 in November, 1987, adds up to a 40 percent rise over a 16-month period in the cost of basic cable.

The cost of premium channels will also go up, from $8.50 to $9.95 for HBO, and from $8.50 to $8.95 for other networks.

The rate rise is necessary because of a rather alarming increase in charges to the programming supplier, said Tom Jones of C-Tec.

Cable officials appeared before Council prior to the 1987 rate increase, where they received opposition to the hike. Mayor Barbara Sigmund noted that, in effect, cable was an unregulated monopoly. "What guarantee does the municipality have," she asked at that time, "that prices won't go through the roof?"

"My position has not changed since the first increase," said the Mayor Tuesday morning.

"We have a natural monopoly operating with none of the regulatory controls that natural monopolies usually are subjected to," she said. "Given this situation, there is nothing the municipality can do."

The cable industry a number of years ago was deregulated by the Federal Communications Commission.

Workshop on Racism Planned at University

Charles King, founder and president of the Urban Crisis Center in Atlanta, Ga. will lead the kickoff event for "Awareness Semester" on Thursday at 7 in the Richardson Auditorium.

An outspoken and charismatic individual, Dr. King will lead a workshop on sexism, racism and interpersonal sensitivity. To help people understand these issues, he has developed seminars using confrontation therapy and role reversal. His strategy is to get people to "feel" the problem. Following the session, most people find themselves thanking Dr King for the experience.

Dr King is a former staff member of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders and former chairman of the International Association of Human Rights agencies. He was professor of black history at Wittenburg University.

In organizing the Semester of Awareness, the Student Coalition, an ad-hoc group of organizations and individuals formed under the auspices of the Princeton University International Center, seeks campus-wide participation in a wide variety of activities. To foster greater understanding and appreciation of diversity in the Princeton community, they encourage wide participation in the seminars, workshops, readings and presentations they are organizing.

The public is invited.

50th Annual Meeting Set by United Way

United Way - Princeton Area Communities will hold its 50th annual meeting and awards presentation on Friday, February 17, at the Merrill Lynch corporate campus, 800 Scudders Mill Road, Plainsboro. The 7:45 p.m. meeting will be preceded by a reception and dinner.

John C. Baker, senior vice president of Mercer Savings & Loan Association, will serve as the evening's emcee. The program will include the presentation of the Gerard B. Lambert Award for outstanding community service, the F. Joseph Horsley Award for exemplary United Way volunteer service, and the 1988/89 Campaign Awards.

Jack G. Lowenstein, 1988/89 campaign chairman and director of administration at FMC, will give this year's campaign report. Daniel J. Lyons, Jr., president of the United Way board of trustees, will conduct the election of new trustees.

The public is invited. The reception will begin at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7. Tickets for the reception and dinner are $20.00 and can be reserved by calling United way at 799-6639.

Stuart Capital Campaign Crosses $2 Million Mark

Stuart Country Day School has announced that its anniversary capital campaign funds have reached a total of $2,189,231 in cash and pledges.

Stuart seeks endowment funds for faculty compensation and financial aid, as well as funds to build a 500-seat chapel theater space, a visual arts center, expanded science laboratories, an enlarged gymnasium, additional library space, and a new parking lot. A total of 5.6 million is sought, with a goal of $3,210,000 set for June 1989.

The first million was an anonymous spearhead gift, announced at the October brunch that launched the campaign. The second million has been accomplished through gifts and pledges ranging from $250,000 to $25. The Stuart alumnae are working to match a $75,000 challenge, as the campaign continues.

Area Antiques Show To Benefit Womanspace

The third Lawrenceville/Mercer County Antiques Show will be held at the New Jersey National Guard Armory, 151 Eggert Crossing Road, Lawrenceville, on Saturday, February 18, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and on Sunday, February 19, from 11 to 5. The show will feature more than 50 dealers and will help benefit Womanspace, Inc. Admission is $4. Refreshments are available, and parking is free.

Womanspace is a nonprofit organization serving victims of domestic violence in Mercer County. It maintains a 24 hour-a-day hotline (394-9000), and provides emergency shelter for women and children in crisis situations. Last year, more than 2400 requests for shelter, counseling, and support services were answered.

Exhibitors from nine states will be offering country and formal furniture, paintings, folk art, textiles, glass, jewelry and accessories.

Chernobyl and the Media Topic of McCarter Panel

McCarter Theatre will sponsor a symposium entitled "The Sarcophagus Project — The Fallout from Chernobyl" on Saturday from 10:30 to 1 at the theatre. Admission is free, but reservations must be made by calling the McCarter Theatre box office at 683-8000.

A panel of journalists will discuss the role of the media and the effectiveness in reporting Chernobyl and similar disasters. Fred Friendly will lead the discussion on whether public policy is a journalist's responsibility. Serving on the panel will be Vladimir Gubaryev, Jonathan Schell, Frank von Hippel, and Celestine Bohlen.

Mr. Friendly is the Edward R. Murrow Professor Emeritus of Broadcast Journalism at the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism and director of the Media and Society seminars. Mr. Friendly began a close personal and professional partnership with Mr. Murrow in 1948, which continued until Mr. Murrow's death in 1965.

Mr. Friendly produced See It Now with Mr. Murrow, a series which received 35 major awards, and he also produced CBS Reports, which garnered 40 awards. Having started his career with CBS in 1951, Mr. Friendly went on to become president of CBS News from 1964 to 1966.

Mr. Gubaryev began writing for Pravda in 1976 first as a science correspondent and later as its science editor. He was the first Soviet journalist to cover the field of controlled nuclear explosions, described in his book Two Paces from the Epicentre, and after the accident at the Chernobyl power station, he was one of the first journalists on the scene.

His reports in Pravda were the first the Russian people knew of the disaster and kept them up-to-date with develop-

GARDEN STATE SCHOLARS: Three seniors at Stuart Country Day School have been honored by the Garden State Scholarship Program, which this year has been divided into three award categories: Distinguished Scholars, Urban Scholars and Garden State Scholars. Holly Light, left, and Asra Saleem, right, are Distinguished Scholars. Caroline Dawson, center, is a Garden State Scholar. Distinguished Scholars place in the top 10% of their class and have SAT scores of 1200 or above. Garden State Scholars place in the top 30% of their class and have SAT scores of 1000 or above.

Valentine Workshop Set at the Arts Council

The fourth annual free Valentine Workshop in memory of Betty Ruth Curtiss, a Princeton artist remembered for generously sharing her fanciful artistic gifts with the community, will be held on Sunday between 1 and 4 p.m. at the Arts council building, 102 Witherspoon Street. The entire community is invited to snip and paste, but children under 7 must be accompanied by an adult.

The workshop is free, but pre-registration is requested as space is limited. Supplies are provided through the generosity of friends and local merchants, but participants would be wise to bring their own scissors.

To reserve a place, call The Arts Council Tuesday through Friday between 12 and 5 p.m. at 924-8777.

Environmental Council Begins Paper Recycling

Princeton High School's Environmental Council has begun a paper recycling program at the school. PHS is the first school in Mercer County to implement such a program.

Boxes have been placed in selected rooms to collect and recycle the waste paper, which is then sold for $36 a ton.

Begun in 1987 by a group of students who were performing chemical testing of Carnegie Lake, the Council now numbers about 35 students.

Among its efforts during the past school year were participation in the October Home Safe Home program at Mountain Lakes and the trash troop clean-up of the town, also in October.

The Council's Tuesday afternoon meetings have included speakers on such topics as the clean water act, Department of Environmental Protection emergency responses, and the clean air act.

Candidiasis Is Topic Of Lecture by Physician

Philip Bonnet, M.D. will give a lecture entitled,"Candidiasis: The Modern Scourge" on Wednesday, February 15, at 8 at the Unitarian Church. The lecture is sponsored by the Holistic Health Association of the Princeton Area (HAAPA) and costs $4 for members and $6 for nonmembers.

Candida albicans, commonly known as yeast, showing up in a variety of ways in various parts of the body, will be discussed in this seminar. From bloatedness to depression, hypoglycemia to dyslexia, candidiasis is sometimes the culprit. Dr. Bonnet treats candidiasis with a three-pronged approach; nutritionally, homeopathically and with allergy neutralization.

Dr. Bonnet is a graduate of Hahnemann Medical College where he also served his residency in psychiatry. He was fellow in psychopharmacology at N.J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and then founded the Brain Bio Center with Dr. Carl Pfeiffer. He is currently in private practice in Lawrenceville.

For further information, call the HHAPA office at 924-8580.

Grief Issues Are Topic Of New Support Group

Family Service Princeton Area is forming a support group for men and women dealing with issues of bereavement and grief surrounding the death of a spouse, a child, a family member, or a friend. Limited to eight participants, the group will be helpful to people dealing with either a recent loss or an unresolved past loss.

Ms Poole, a clinical social worker with eight years of experience in loss-related counseling, will lead the group Before coming to Family Service, she was the assistant director of the hospice team at Albert Einstein Medical Center, Philadelphia. In this capacity she worked with patients and their families dealing with all phases of a terminal illness. She also helped the professional staff cope with their feelings surrounding death.

The group will start Tuesday, February 28 at 7:30 p.m. at Family Service Princeton Area, 120 John Street, and continues for eight Tuesday evenings. Fees are based on a sliding scale. For more information, call 924-2098.

Katie Poole

The Montessori Family School, located in the Straube Center at 102 West Franklin Avenue in Pennington, has openings for the 1989-90 school year. The school offers Montessori programs for toddlers (18 months to 3) and for children ages 2½ to 6, with enrichment programs in art, movement and music. All-day care is also availahle.

Open houses are also scheduled for Saturday, March 18, from 1 to 3 p.m. and Sunday, May 7 from 2 to 4 p.m.

For more information, call 737-1331.

Open House Scheduled By Montessori School

The Montessori Family School of Mercer County will present a free open house/workshop for parents of preschoolage children on Thursday, February 16, at 7:30 p.m. Vijay Subramaniam will condust the workshop, which will compare the Montessori method with traditional preschool programs. In case of inclement weather,the workshop will be held February 23.

Civil War Historian To Speak at Peddie

James M. McPherson, Civil War historian and author, will launch The Peddie School's 125th anniversary celebration as Founders Day keynote speaker on Saturday at 8 p.m. Mr. McPherson will address the relationship between the school's early history and the political, social and military events of the same era.

The tradition of Founders Day was begun in 1895 to honor an early benefactor of the school, Thomas B Peddie, a businessman, Mayor of Newark, and member of the State legislature and United States Congress. Attended by the student body and faculty, Founders Day is held annually to commemorate Mr. Peddie's birth The service in the school's Ayer Memorial Chapel includes the induction of new Cum Laude Society members and the recognition of student leaders.

James McPherson

The Peddie School is a private, coeducational, residential and nonresidential college preparatory school located in Hightstown Founded as the Hightstown Female Seminary in the spring of 1864 under the auspices of the Baptist Church, the school was chartered by the State legislature in 1865 as The New Jersey Classical and Scientific Institute. The school was renamed in 1872 to honor Mr. Peddie.

Mr. McPherson is Edwards Professor of American History at Princeton University. His most recent book, Battle Cry of Freedom, was hailed by the New York Times Book Review as "the best one-volume treatment of its subject" and "historical writing of the highest order." His books include The Struggle for Equality, Marching Toword Freedom and Ordeol of Fire.

Noted Russian Scholar To Talk at Trenton State

Anatoly Khazanov, a preeminent Soviet ethnographer and visiting professor at Trenton State College, will speak on "Pastoral Nomads in the Past, Present and Future" at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, February 15, at the college's Brower Student Center, Room 202 W. His lecture is free and open to the public.

An expert on the nomadic peoples of Asia, the Middle East and Africa, Prof Khazanov is spending a year at Trenton State College through its visiting scholar, artists, and practitioners program.

Prof. Khazanov, a Russian Jew who was born in Moscow, earned a Ph.D in ethnography from Moscow State University in 1966. Soviet scholars are encouraged to earn more than one doctorate, and a few years later he received a second degree from the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

In 1985, he and his family were permitted to emigrate to Israel, where he is now a full professor in the department of sncinlogy and social anthropology at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Two Trips Are Planned For Senior Citizens

The Recreation Department has annouunced upcoming trips for its Senior Citizen Trip Club. The club is open to Princeton residents and nonresidents, 55 years and older.

On Tuesday, February 28, the Trip Club is sponsoring a trip to the New Jersey Flower and Garden Show featuring many horticulture displays, educational exhibits, competitive gardens and instruction from the Floral Design School. The cost of the trip is $19 for Trip Club members and $22 for nonclub members and includes transportation and admission to the flower show. A cafeteria is available or seniors may choose to bring a lunch of their own.

Wednesday, March 29, the Senior Trip Club ventures to New York City to see a matinee performance of the musical comedy, Me and My Girl. The group will have dinner on the converted Binghampton ferry. The cost of the trip is $69 for Trip Club members and $72 for nonmembers.

To register for these trips or to become a Trip Club Member, contact the Recreation Office at 380 Witherspoon Street. The phone number is 921-9480.

Medical Ethicist Here For Talk on Campus

Bioethicist Susan Wolf, a Maclean Fellow at Princeton University, will give a public lecture on Friday, February 17, in conjunction with the University's Alumni Day weekend activities. Ms. Wolf will speak on "The Termination of Life-Sustaining Treatment: Ethics and Law at the End of Life," in the Woodrow Wilson School's Dodds Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Currently associate for law at The Hastings Center, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., Ms. Wolf graduated from Princeton University in 1975 with highest honors in sociology and received her law degree from Yale Law School in 1980. While a law student she assisted in the representation of hospitalized mental patients and the mentally handicapped.

Ms. Wolf then clerked for a federal district court judge in New York City, and practiced law for three years with the firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison.

Deciding to work full time on medicine and law, she won a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities that allowed her to spend the year 1984-85 at The Hastings Center. She was invited to join the Center's staff in 1985.

The author of numerous articles on legal implications of medical problems, Ms. Wolf recently directed a project that yielded Guidelines on the Termination of Life-Sustaining Treatment and the Care of the Dying: A Report of the Hastings Center (1987). She has lectured widely at medical conferences, hospitals and law schools, and been interviewed frequently on radio and television about such issues as surrogate motherhood and termination of life support treatment.

Susan Wolf

Ms. Wolf is adjunct associate professor at New York University School of Law, where she teaches a course in law and biomedical technologies. She also serves on the Ethics Committee at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, and is a member of New York City's AIDS Review Panel.

MCCC to Hold First College-Wide Reunion

Mercer County Community College will hold the first college-wide reunion in its 23-year history on Saturday. The reunion gala, sponsored by the Alumni Association, will take place from 7:30 to 11 p.m. in the Student Center on the West Windsor Campus. Tickets are $25 per couple or $15 per person. Reservations are preferred.

The reunion will focus on the classes of 1968, 1973, 1978, 1983 and 1988, but graduates of all classes are invited.

For more information or reservations, call 586-4800, extension 610.

Spring Registration Set For Rider Reading Clinic

The Rider College Reading/Language Arts Clinic, directed by Susan M. Glazer, is accepting registration for the 1989 spring semester.

This program, for children ages 6 through 13, will begin the week of February 14 and end the week of May 2. Students attend the clinic once a week after school, either Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday afternoon, from 4 to 6 p.m.

The program is designed to provide high-achieving readers and writers with a variety of enrichment activities; to provide average readers with activities in reading and writing that can help them realize their potential; and to help below-average students increase their basic skills in reading and writing. Composition, reading comprehension, and study skills will be stressed.

Students will work in small groups of six to eight, where individual programs will be developed based on need. Self-selected, as well as assigned, reading will form the basis of the content.

Micro-computer instruction in word processing for writing is also included. Video-taped recordings of students working with teachers and peers will be reviewed periodically by clinicians Phyllis Fantauzzo and Denise Nugent so that programs can be altered to fit each student's needs. Limited psychological services will be available, when necessary, under the direction of Dr. James Murphy, psychologist.

The fee for the ten-week program is $250. For those who have never attended the clinic or have not attended for a year or more, a screening is required. The screening will include a group achievement test, as well as reading comprehension tests, and is for clinic placement. Screening costs $40 and is scheduled on Saturday, January 21, from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m.

For additional information, call Gail Turner from 9 to 5 weekdays at 896-5313.

Psychological Portraits Subject of Two Readings

The Public Library's next Readings Over Coffee program will take place Wednesday, February 15, at 10:30 in the Arts Council building, 102 Witherspoon Street. The library's meeting room is being used by staff while the upstairs offices are being renovated.

Herbert McAneney will read a psychological portrait of Aaron Burr, written by Gamaliel Bradford, from Damaged Souls, and also the ponderings of Winston Churchill, writing in 1935, about the possibilities for good and evil in Germany's new leader, Adolf Hitler.

All are welcome.

Newborn Health, Safety Topic at Familyborn

Familyborn birth center offers a class on newborn health and safety each month. The class will be offered this Thursday at 7 and will be taught by Pam Rossner, director of nursing.

Topics include normal newborn behavior, breastfeeding, home safety, circumcision and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation of an infant. The class is designed for mothers and fathers and others involved in baby care. A question-and-answer period will follow.

Familyborn is staffed by certified nurse midwives and offers prenatal and birthing care both in and out of the hospital, as well as health care for women and educational programs. For registration, call 683-5100.

Merchant's Benefit Drive
for the Wellness Community
Princeton Area

Don Salvia, owner of Plentiful Acres, would like his business to benefit those stricken with cancer. He will generously donate a portion of business proceeds at Plentiful Acres on February 11 to The Wellness Community of Princeton.

By patronizing Plentiful Acres on February 11, you can also contribute to The Wellness Community. At the same time, you will treat yourself to the wide variety of quality produce always offered at Plentiful Acres.

We gratefully appreciate the support local merchants are extending.

At some point, cancer strikes nearly every family. There is a great need in central New Jersey for more extensive support for people with cancer. The Wellness Community is an answer to this problem.

The Wellness Community is a non-residential center offering free psychological and social services to adult cancer patients and their families. By offering hope and cultivating friendships, the Community helps reduce the isolation cancer patients so often experience. The Wellness Community is founded on the belief that people with cancer who actively participate in their fight for recovery will substantially improve the quality of their lives and may enhance their probability of recovery. Through professionally facilitated support groups and activities, we teach cancer patients how to regain control over their lives.

The Wellness Community is a nationwide network of facilities supported by contributions from individuals and organizations. Those wishing to make donations or receive more information can call (609) 924-0480 or write P.O. Box 7924, Princeton, N.J. 08543.

Town Meeting Planned On Princeton's Problems

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is to call attention to a "Town Meeting" scheduled to discuss Princeton Borough and Township streets, sidewalks, sewers and parking — a matter of concern to recent writers in this space.

The meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, February 12, 1989 at Bowl 5 of the Woodrow Wilson School.

It will be chaired by Walter R. Bliss, Jr., a local lawyer with substantial experience in growth management issues, and panel members will include members of the Borough Council and Township Committee from both political parties who have public works and sewer management responsibilities in the two Princetons.

The Town Meeting format was chosen to promote maximum audience participation. The program is one of an ongoing series sponsored by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization (PCDO) as a non-partisan public service presentation.

New County Golf Course Irks an Area Resident

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Development and the proposed golf course go hand in hand, don't they? More people need more space to golf, right? And a nearby golf course enhances the value of homesites. So we get more people, so we need more space, and so on.

Golfers, don't be fooled. You'll wait for hours to have access to the new course just as you do at Mountain View now. The proposed 230-acre course in the County Park is envisioned as a jewel. With an interstate highway five minutes away, golfers should flock to it from Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey. The fee will be a bargain hordes cannot resist.

The County could bring pressure or offer incentives for developers to set aside space for modest nine-hole courses wherever a substantial parcel of land is to be developed. Such courses would serve local golfers' needs better than the proposed "first class" course.

In Attempt to Solve Staffing Shortages Medical Center Opens Its Own Nursery

"Small Wonders" is the name of the day care center located in the former activities room at Merwick.

The children enrolled are indeed small — ranging from infants who can't sit up by themselves yet to active, talkative two-year-olds. All are children of employees at Princeton Medical Center. Corporate-sponsored day care is an idea gradually taking hold in business parks, but Small Wonders may be the first child care center in New Jersey sponsored by a hospital within its own facilities in an attempt to solve the shortage of nurses and technicians.

According to Jane Kerney, director of public relations at the Medical Center, the idea for a child care center goes back about a year and a half and originated with the recruitment and retention committee. Noting that 85 percent of the hospital's employees are women, the committee found that the need for competent, easily-accessible, reasonably-priced child care came up time and again — in interviews with prospective employees and also as the reason given for leaving.

The committee surveyed the day care options in the area and discovered that there are opportunities for the care of children age 3½ to 5 in nursery schools with extended day programs and in day care centers in various settings, but that infant care is virtually nonexistent. A nurse who left to have a baby would use up her six-week maternity leave trying unsuccessfully to make arrangements for her baby, even on a part-time basis, and would often end up having to stay home whether she wanted to or not.

'A Good Fit'. "We decided it would be helpful for us in keeping our employees to have child care," Mrs. Kerney says. Merwick, Princeton Medical Center's long term care facility, was being reorganized at the time, and the former lower-level activities room was available. "It seemed a good fit. We thought a child care center might liven up Merwick, and we decided to give it a try."

A survey of employees at all three Medical Center units indicated that there were 20 to 30 families that could use the facility right away. Ann Rue, a Lawrenceville resident with 18 years of experience in day care, including stints as director of University-Now Nursery School and the Caroline Stokes Day Nursery in Ewing, was hired last March to plan, equip, and staff Small Wonders and to be its director.

Mrs. Rue is a calm, collected person with four grown children and a grandchild. A graduate of Connecticut College with a master's in education from Rutgers University, she taught in public school for a time. Offered a job in day care, she found she preferred it because of the greater involvement with the parents.

Small Wonders opened last May with a handful of children. Parents may have wanted to see how it would develop, but gradually enrollment has picked up. There are now 35 families enrolled, but since many mothers prefer going back to work part time rather than full time while their children are young, the number of youngsters on any given day is around 20, although occasionally it has swelled to 28.

Unusual Hours. Small Wonders is open from 6:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. As Mrs. Rue points out, most day care centers do not open early enough for someone on a hospital staff to be on the floor when the 7 to 3 shift begins. The cost is $90 a week, and includes breakfast and lunch, two snacks and Pampers as necessary. The cost is pro-rated for part-timers and is $9 for half a day.

The day care center is licensed by the State for 40 children, although Mrs. Rue does not think this is a realistic number to care for in one room. The staff numbers six, including the director, which makes for an adult-baby ratio that is better than State requirements. "There is enough staff so that says Mrs. Rue, adding that they, like the older children, sometimes have to wait their turn.

The room is painted white for maximum brightness, with a wall sconce of marching teddy bears and paintings contributed by the Waldorf School. Soft blue carpeting covers two thirds of the floor area. There is a blue covered sofa and several rocking chairs in which to comfort a colicky infant. There are nine cribs clustered to one side, while the toys, dolls, books, record player and a large piece of climbing equipment are grouped in another area. A low round table, little chairs and miniature high chairs or feeding tables are located in a tiled area which doubles as the place for painting and messy play.

Children are encouraged to bring their favorite teddy bear or doll, their own "blankie" and pillow, and a complete change of clothing. After lunch little cots that have been stacked up in a corner are put out, and everybody settles down for a two-hour nap. The Pamper changing room is next door.

Joy to the Residents. Also nearby is the Merwick beauty parlor, which is open on Wednesdays. Merwick residents, many of whom are elderly and infirm, come to the door to feast their eyes upon the young life within. Mrs. Rue says that the residents have joined in for sing-alongs and in painting pumpkins at Halloween and making cookies at Christmas.

Open to anyone in the hospital employ, Small Wonders is used not just by nurses, but also by pharmacists, lab and x-ray technicians, physical and occupational therapists, and office workers. The cost may put it out of the reach of some of the lower-paid hospital employees, Mrs. Rue thinks, because so far it has not been used by members of the housekeeping, kitchen or maintenance staff.

However, according to Larry Rosner, personnel director at Princeton Medical Center, Small Wonders is still costing the Medical Center money. "We continue to subsidize it," Mr. Rosner says, "but it means a great deal to those who are able to use it."

He estimates at least half of the 35 parents registered at Small Wonders would not be working at the Medical Center at all if the day care center were not available. The major expense to the hospital is the staff payroll. Small Wonders is able to take advantage of existing janitorial, dietitian and kitchen services of the hospital, as well as its insurance coverage. Thus overhead costs are lower than they might be if the day care center had to start from scratch, as an independent entity, but the labor costs are high in relation to the numbers registered.

High Praise for Staff. Mr. Rosner believes that Small Wonders pays its staff and provides better benefits than can most day care centers. He says the hospital was "overwhelmed" with applicants, and there has been no turnover since the day care center opened. He has high praise for all the staff, and expecially the director.

"I have been in that room many times, no matter how many children are there, I've never seen it really hectic. Mrs. Rue and the staff are like the calm in the center of a storm, and the children feel that and respond to it," Mr. Rosner says.

When it first opened, Small Wonders was licensed for babies six weeks old who have had their first round of shots, to children age 2½. At the request of parents currently enrolled and with the endorsement of the staff, the age range has just been expanded to include children up to age 3½. Both Mrs. Kerney and Mrs. Rue doubt that the day care center will grow to the State maximum of 40 children, because the existing room in Merwick would not handle that many comfortably.

Small Wonders derived its name from the Medical Center's earlier experiment in day care for sick children called Small Comforts. Located in a section of the pediatrics department, this program was a convenience for working parents from throughout the area, not just hospital employees, who could not take a sick child to school or to day care and did not want to give up one of their own sick days to stay home.

Small Comforts also enabled the hospital to make use of some unused pediatric beds and to retain highly trained pediatric nurses in the face of a declining pediatric population and fewer childhood illnesses requiring hospitalization. However, operating at 100 percent occupancy on many occasions over the past year, the hospital had to reclaim those beds for the acutely ill. Unable to guarantee that it would be available to parents whenever their children became sick, Small Comforts had to close.

Many were sorry to see it go, including Mrs. Rue, whose charges occasionally could use its services. However, she was able to use some of its furnishings, rework the name, and open up a day care center that is rather special. "From day one it has worked well, beyond my expectations," Mr. Rosner says.

Outdoor Programs Set By Watershed Association

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association will hold a nature walk Saturday to explore the ecology of the pond in winter.

Winter birds, the dried shapes of wildflowers, animal tracks and what happens in a pond in winter are the subjects for exploration. The program will begin at 1 and is open to adults and children age 14 and up.

The fee is $5 for members and $10 for nonmembers.

Children age 8 and up are invited to learn orienteering skills and how to use a compass Saturday at 9:30. There will be a discussion on the history of the compass, some compass lessons and exercises, and then participants will put those skills to use on an orienteering course through the Watershed reserve. Children age 8 to 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

The fee for this activity is $6 for members and $10 for nonmembers.

The Watershed Association will also offer craft activities for pre-schoolers on Wednesday, February 15 at 10 a.m. Youngsters will explore the outdoors in search of miscellaneous objects to be assembled into "scavenger art." The fee is is $10 for members and $15 for nonmembers.

Pre-registration is required for all three programs. For registration and further information call 737-7592.

Talented Princeton Native Finds TV Acting Lots More Fun than Computer Programming

The media last year rushed to report a hot new trend in advertising strategy: For the first time, ad campaigns were using sexy men to sell products. Even products as prosaic as drain cleaner.

Widely cited as an example of this trend was a TV commercial which showed a towel-draped young man dancing around his tub to the tune of "Splish, splash, I was taking a bath." He was clearly delighted to have saved his bath by the judicious use of Drano.

The man in the commercial was 28-year-old Ted Henning, who grew up in Princeton, attended Princeton schools and The Lawrenceville School, and is the son of John Witherspoon Middle School teacher Peggy Henning.

"The ad got a lot of press," says Mr. Henning. "It was supposedly a great breakthrough in the use of men in advertising. Up to that point there were only scantily clad women. Now there was a scantily clad guy, who was not being used to sell perfume."

Full Time on Acting. Drano and other commercials have freed Mr. Henning from making a living by being a "computer jock." He can now spend full time on his acting career, something relegated to the sidelines while he worked several years for Arthur Anderson. During these years, which followed his graduation from Lehigh University, he was assigned to Trenton where he designed the State unemployment insurance computer system.

But when he walked into the Anderson office one day and was told his next assignment would be four years in Harrisburg, that did it. He resigned, took up computer programming part-time, and spent more of his time studying acting and looking for work in the field.

Ted Henning is tall and good looking, with the kind of pleasing self-confidence, tinged with a self-deprecating wit, that usually comes hard-won after a shy childhood.

"I was pretty shy. Until I went to Lawrenceville, I didn't have many friends," he said. "It helped to have my mother be a teacher; she knew every kid in town."

Peggy Henning may also have led him to his interest in acting. A former actress, as well as a teacher on television's "Romper Room," she would often take Ted and his sister, Pamela, to the theater in New York. "I had to wear a coat and tie," he recalls. "I used to think to get into New York you had to dress this way."

At Lawrenceville, where he was a day student, Mr. Henning played supporting roles in six productions. His most memorable appearance was when he, the president of the school, the captain of the football team, and "a fat guy," all dressed in tutus, appeared in the first act of South Pacific. It was all done straight-faced by the cast. The audience, however, roared.

Just before his graduation from Lawrenceville, his father, Theodore Henning Sr., died after a long illness. His son calls him "the most brilliant man I ever met." Mr. Henning had left Germany in 1937 and served in Army Intelligence during World War II.

Ted Henning didn't pursue acting at Lehigh, where he began as a marine biology major. Disappointed with the department, he switched to mechanical engineering.

"That side of me was repressed," he said. "I was going to be an engineer."

Ted Henning
"I Want to Affect People."

Move to New York. He moved to New York City the day after graduation, but it was seven months before he began his job with Anderson. He worked at a health club during this time and began taking acting lessons with Richard Pinter, now head of the Neighborhood Playhouse.

After leaving Anderson, he went out on the commercial circuit and did some "bad off-off Broadway." He also appeared in a production of Biloxi Blues in San Francisco, directed by Neil Simon's daughter.

Mr. Henning has made a couple of televison pilots in the past month. It will be a while, however, before he knows whether they will be bought by a network. One pilot was directed by Gary Marshall, who created The Odd Couple for television.

Having done two pilots in the last year puts him in the upper quadrant of actors, he says. "Every step you're at, you see how many more steps you have to do."

But his passion is film. "I'd love to be a respected working film actor who was in a position to do theater once a year, like William Hurt," he says. His film idols are mostly stars of the thirties and forties, like Cary Grant, James Stewart, Henry Fonda, and Jimmy Cagney.

"I want to affect people," Mr. Henning says of his desire to act. "I don't want to go through life with designing computer systems as my biggest mark."

New York is the place where actors can get work in commercials, soap opera, and theater, he explains. Los Angeles is for televison and film. Right now he lives in New York because it's where he'd rather be. "I like the energy, the people. I grew up on the east coast," he says. "But I'm starting to like it more out there. That's where the work is."

———

Ted Henning personifies some of that New York energy. He commutes frequently from coast to coast, continues to take acting lessons, is writing his third screenplay, plays the guitar, goes to the theater, and sees almost every movie that comes out. Some day, he would like to direct.

Meanwhile, he is looking for his break — the kind of a break that has opened up careers in film and theater for other Princeton people such as John Lithgow, Christopher Reeve, and Tony Award-winner Bebe Neuwirth.

Water Rate

Princetons intervened in Elizabethtown's petition for a rate increase filed last June. Represented by R. William Potter, an attorney specializing in utility law, the two municipalities asked the BPU to deny a rate increase until the company could demonstrate that it could improve service.

An agreement was reached in October whereby Elizabethtown did not raise its rates but was allowed instead to keep $2.6 million in taxes it collected or expected to collect that would be normally be returned to customers under the 1986 Federal Tax Reform Act. The BPU approved the stipulation agreement last November.

Under the agreement, Elizabethtown agreed to conduct a study to determine whether its facilities are adequate to serve the Princetons. The study is to address the problems that affect the Princeton area, "a plan for long-term remediation and an assessment of how the remediations will be affected by growth in demand." The study is to be completed on or before six months from the time the BPU approved the stipulation, or by early March.

If the rate increase is approved, 17 percent of the $12.1 million expected in additional revenue will go to offset a 28 percent increase that the New Jersey Water Supply Authority, a State agency, will charge for the purchase of water. That increase is expected to go into effect in July.

Other Companies Higher. The additional revenues from a rate hike would also be used to cover costs associated with the increased manpower and resources necessary to meet current environmental regulatory standards, Mr. Patterson said. He added that Elizabethtown has traditionally maintained rates lower than most other New Jersey water companies and would continue to do so under the proposed rates. The average Elizabethtown customer would notice a cost increase of 56 cents per week or $29 a year.

Of concern to Princeton Township, however, is the proposed increase in the amount the municipality would pay for water to fire hydrants. Currently, the Township pays $82,654, but under the proposed rate schedule, it would pay $95,000 on top of this amount.

Mr. Patterson explains that the two Princetons have historically paid lower fire service costs than other municipalities in its service area. In the stipulation agreement reached last October and approved by the BPU in November, Elizabethtown was allowed to "equalize" these costs over two rate increases.

The Township and the Borough have tentatively approved the draft of a petition to the Board of Public Utilities drawn up by Mr. Potter which asks the regulatory agency to investigate the "safety, adequacy and sufficiency" of water service to Princeton from Elizabethtown Water Company. It also asks the BPU to "restrain" the company from selling large volumes of water to municipalities outside its service area while the investigation is going on.

The petition also asks the BPU to order the company to correct water-deficiency problems if it finds service is unsafe or inadequate. The petition has not been finally approved for filing by either municipality.

Meanwhile, according to Mr. Patterson, the company is aware of the problems and has taken and will continue to take steps to correct them. He says that the company has "sped up" the laying of a 60-inch main leading south from the Raritan-Millstone treatment plant. That main has reached Hillsborough and will move further south in steps in future years.

The company has also increased the capacity of a booster pumping station in Montgomery. In Princeton larger mains have been installed under streets in both the Borough and Township to tap off a large main recently installed along Terhune Road. The Russell Estates situation was eased by the installation of a 16-inch line along Route 206 to Ferrand Drive and Edgerstoune Road. The previous main in that area had been six inches in diameter.

This spring, the company expects to lay a 30-inch main along Rosedale Road from the Constitution Hill entrance to Province Line Road. Request for permission to use Township right-of-way to cross Stony Brook will be before Township Committee Monday, according to the Township engineer.

Elizabethtown also wants to locate a new water tank somewhere on the 260-foot contour line in the northwest Township, but the location has not yet been determined.

Career Day Planned By Architecture Firm

Students from 50 high schools in New Jersey and Pennsylvania will gather at the Hillier Group headquarters on Saturday, February 25, from 9 to 3 for the firm's 1989 Career Day and College Fair. Students interested in a future in architecture and related fields are invited to meet the Hillier Group architects and designers and attend their workshops, including Portfolio Preparation and Architectural Drawing.

Students attending career day may take part in two to seven different workshops. In addition to Portfolio Preparation and Architectural Drawing, Interior Design, Graphic Design, Computer Design and Drafting, Construction Management and Land Planning and Landscape Architecture will be offered.

Following the workshops representatives and architectural schools will be available to meet with individual students. Colleges sending representatives include Princeton University and New York's Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

To register, students may fill out a form available through their school's guidance counselors, or call the Hillier Group Career Day Planning Office at 452-8888. The registration deadline is Tuesday.

Princeton Vacancy Rate Shows a Slight Rise

Princeton's office vacancy rate edged slightly higher during the fourth quarter of 1988, reflecting the addition of nearly one-half-million square feet of new construction. This was the finding of the Cushman & Wakefield fourth quarter "Across the Nation" office space survey.

The fourth quarter statistic showed a vacancy rate of 22.6 percent, a slight increase of .2 percentage points from the third quarter 1988 number, and a .6 percentage point from the year-end 1987 figure.

"The minor fluctuations in the office market seen over the second half of 1988 reflect a steady absorption of new construction which continues to come on line," said Donald P. Eisen, of Cushman & Wakefield's Princeton office.

An increase in the vacancy rate has not, however, affected

Real Estate Seminar On Sewer Regulations

A morning seminar on real estate development and wastewater quality regulation will be held in the offices of Brener Wallack & Hill, 210 Carnegie Center, on Wednesday, February 15, from 9 to 11 a.m.

The session will focus on strategies to comply with wastewater treatment standards from both legal and engineering standpoints. The program is sponsored by the firm's environmental and government regulation practice group, and will include presentations by attorneys of the law firm and by Raymond A. Ferrara and Michael A. Dimino, principals of Omni Environmental Corporation, an environmental engineering and science consulting firm.

Dr. Ferrara was formerly head of the department of civil engineering at Lafayette College in Easton, Pa., and an assistant professor in the department of civil engineering at Princeton University. He was also a project engineer with the federal Environmental Protection Agency reviewing sewage treatment grant applications.

Mr. Dimino, a licensed professional engineer in New York and New Jersey, was formerly executive director of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority which services seven Mercer County municipalities and operates three advanced wastewater treatment plants.

The program is open to the public without charge, but advance reservations are required. Call Doris Pierce at 924-0808.

Dance Students, Faculty Schedule Three Concerts

The Princeton University Program in Theater and Dance will present its annual dance performances in Richardson Auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 16, 17, and 18, at 8 p.m.

The evening of dances, choreographed by students, dance supervisor Ze'eva Cohen, and guest choreographer Lorn MacDougal, will encompass a variety of approaches — comic, satirical and formal.

Ms. Cohen's Shifting Ground stems from the experience of being in a war zone and deals more generally with feelings of losing ground to fnrces beyond one's control. The dance is in the repertory of Ze'eva Cohen and Dancers and the Cnntemporary Dance Theatre of Cincinnati.

Guest choreographer and noted modern dance solnist Lorn MacDougal has created The Ins ond Outs of Being On or Off, a spirited tongue-in-cheek piece for ten of Princeton's dancers that reflects their personalities and interrelationships. Its original score by Alain LeRazer is selected from the composer's 20-year-old collection of sound tapes, and includes a French children's band and the clock at Grand Central.

Student work includes Carnlyn Ende's emotional duet for herself and Frances McGroty, and Ric Escobar's solo using silvery fabric, black light and mirrors, inspired by Loie Fuller. Scott Davis will present a sculpturesque men's quartet, and Nancy Benerofe a dance for eight women, based the mandala symbol.

Jill Sigman will perform a solo from Anna Sokolow's Lyric Suite. Other student choreographers are Eleni Filippaki, Emily Daniell, Lisa Kanemoto, Krishnan Padmanahhan, Jeffrey Smith, and Alexander Goldman.

Student work was developed under the direction of faculty member Elizabeth Keen, who recently choreographed several theater and opera productions directed by Sir Peter Hall in London.

Ofra Confino has designed the costumes and Judith Daitsman is responsible for the lighting.

Admissinn is $5 for the general public and $4 for students.

Play "Charley's Aunt" Due at Off-Broadstreet

Chorley's Aunt will open at the Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell Friday, Fehruary 17, for a five-weekend run. The theater features a dessert buffet and coffee and tea one hour before curtain.

Charlie's Aunt, a classic farce by Brandon Thomas, was first performed in 1892 and is still full of zest and charm. The story involves two young men trying to get up the courage to propose to the two young ladies with whom they are desperately in love. As the girls will soon be leaving college for the summer, time is of the essence. The two young men are played by Michael Renda and Jeff Maschi; the two young women by Laura Jackson and Lori Vaningen.

Charley's Aunt, Donna Lucia, played by Petie Duncan, is expected from Brazil and the girls are invited to lunch. The difficulty begins when Donna Lucia telegraphs that she must delay her trip and the young gents find themselves with the twn young ladies, unchaperoned.

Others in the cast include Bob Gargiullo as a fellow student who poses as Charley's Aunt; Herbert McAneny as Brassett, a college scout; Chrissie Lucash as Ela; Ron Platt as guardian of one girl; and Ray Arlo as father of one of the young men.

Period costumes have been designed by Patricia Hibbert, and Ilsa Johnson has designed the set.

Performances are on Fridays and Saturdays at 8, with doors open at 7 for dessert. Sunday matinees feature dessert at 1:30 with curtain at 2:30. Admission Friday and Sunday is $13.75, and on Saturday it is $15. Admission includes dessert and show.

There is a senior citizen discount available to Sunday matinee performances. For reservations call the Off-Broadstreet box office at 466-2766. The theater is at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

'Guys & Dolls' Readied By the Peddie School

The Peddie School Drama Club will present the musical Guys and Dolls on February 23 through 25. The show will open at 8 p.m. Thursday, February 23, in the Robert O. Driver Dining Room on the school campus, and will be presented as Dinner Theater Friday and Saturday, February 24 and 25. On those evenings dinner will be served at 6:45, and the show will begin at 8.

The winner of the 1952 Best Musical award, Guys and Dolls brings together gamblers, "Hot Box" dancing girls, and Salvation Army "lassies." Musical numbers include "Bushel and a Peck," "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat," "Take Back Your Mink," and "I've Never Been in Love Before."

The show stars Dina Gardner of Cranbury as a "Hot Box" dancing girl and Jon Steinberg as her gambling boyfriend. Danielle Shylit '89 plays a Salvation Army "lass" who tries to reform her boyfriend, Scott Smithgall, also a gambling man. Brian Trachtenberg, Rob Camphell, and Eric Drabiuk are also in the cast.

Guys and Dolls is directed by Jeffrey Holcombe, with musical direction by Francis A. Towne and Philip Maue. Choreography is by Gail Bross.

Tickets are $16 with a choice of two entrees and $5.50 for the show only. Dinner reservations may be made by calling 448-0155 or448-3526. Reservations for the show only are not necessary.

'Live' Murder Mystery At Forrestal Restaurant

Murder on Cue Mystery Company will create murder mysteries with audience participation Saturday evenings at Woodrow's in Princeton Forrestal Village.

According to the promoters, murder mysteries as "environmental theater" with audience participation are popular entertainment at inns, restaurants, hotels and nn ships. Thus, A Scandalous Murder will be committed Saturday, February 18 and 25, at 8 at Woodrow's by the Middletown company operated by Kathy Reed and John Dwyer, who also wrote the mystery.

Mysteries performed by Murder on Cue differ from standard murder mystery fare in that guests are given individual biographies (or the characters in the script. Guests are encouraged to portray the character all evening, and to intermingle with other guests and professinnal actors from the company to get as much information as posible to help solve the crime.

During the evening a murder occurs, and scripted scenes are alternated with food courses and improvisation, culminating with the apprehension of the killer. A Scandalous Murder will star Mr. Dwyer along with Bruce Bronstein and Laura Burnett of Princeton, Paul Thomas of New York City, Michael Brown of Summit and other members of the company.

Tickets are $45 per person, which includes dinner, tax, gratuity and the murder. Prizes will be awarded Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling Woodrow's at 520-0565 or Murder on Cue, (201) 957-0726.

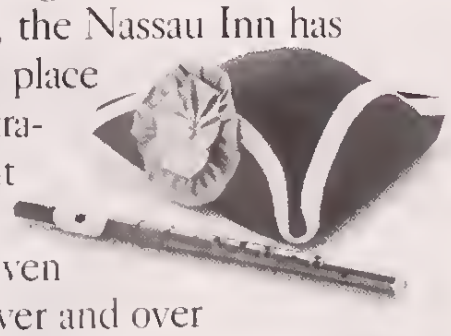
At The Nassau Inn...

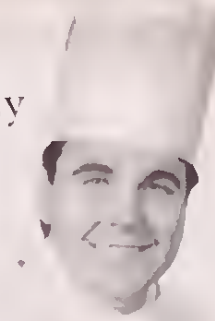
Our Sunday Brunch Is Truly Revolutionary.

Since the first stage coach pulled up to our door in 1769, the Nassau Inn has been known as the place in Princeton for extraordinary dining. But reputations like ours aren't freely given —they're earned over and over again by innkeepers committed to the comfort and satisfaction of their guests.



So when our new innkeepers, Nelson and Beth Zager, made the Nassau Inn their home, they continued this tradition with the Nassau Inn Sunday Brunch in Palmer's restaurant.

Of course, this is not just any Sunday Brunch. Our award-winning chef, Don Woods, will prepare a sumptuous feast for you, with hot entrees, assorted salads, seasonal specialties and delicious desserts. In addition, there'll be live music to enhance your dining pleasure . . . all for $19.95 per adult. But most important is the special feeling you'll get from being a guest in an inn known for more than two centuries for its warmth.



So enjoy Sunday Brunch at the Nassau Inn and discover an experience that today seems almost revolutionary: great food and gracious hospitality.

MUSIC

Sally Rogers

Folksinger in Concert With Her Dulcimer

The Princeton Folk Music Society will feature Sally Rogers in a concert on Friday at 8 at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road.

From her earliest childhood in Beulah, Mich., Sally Rogers knew her career lay in music. She received her degree in music education from Michigan State University in 1978 and stayed on in Lansing to run the Elderly Instruments School of Folk Music. Ms. Rogers has released six albums with a seventh due for release in early 1989.

Her latest release, Peace by Peace, is also her first children's album. It was produced as part of a series called the "Peace Pack" by Kids' Records of Toronto. One of the first records devoted to introducing children to the concept of peace, it has received widespread attention and critical acclaim.

Ms. Rogers performs ballads and songs on guitar and Appalachian dulcimer. She is known for her instrumental virtuosity, particularly on her chosen instrument, the dulcimer. She applies her voice to traditional a cappella ballads, to historical songs of events and people, and to contemporary songs, including many of her own. The title song of her latest solo album, Love Will Guide Us, a song of hope and love, has been reprinted in hymnals and songbooks throughout the country.

Admissions are $6 for adults, $5 for students, $5 for Society members, $3 for children and senior citizens. There are no advance sales. Memberships are available at the door. For further information, call 799-0009.

Musical Amateurs Sing Works by Bach, Vivaldi

Francis Slade will conduct an informal reading of the Vivaldi Gloria and Bach Mognificat on Sunday at 4 at the Unitarian Church. The sing is sponsored by the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs.

Soloists Laverna Albury, soprano, Betsy MacKenzie, mezzo soprano, Albert Neal, tenor, and John Ballard, bass, join orchestra and chorus in the reading of the two works. Admission for nonmember participants is $4 and includes the use of a score. Students and nonparticipants are admitted without charge.

The February sing is the fifth in the Society's seven monthly sessions for the 1988/89 season. All sessions are informal readings in which everyone present may participate. Upcoming session, in March and April, include readings of Mendelssohn's Elijah and Brahms' Ein Deutsches Requiem.

For additional information, call J. R. Woolston at 921-2478.

Brunch Set as Prelude To GPYO Masked Ball

The Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra, conducted by Mark Laycock, will perform music by Johann Strauss and his contemporaries at a special benefit "Prelude Brunch" as the Marriot Hotel in Princeton Forrestal Village, Sunday, February 19, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. p.m.

The event is a prelude to the upcoming Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra Masked Ball on February 24, the primary fund-raiser for the youth orchestra.

The GPYO is a 70-piece orchestra composed of musicians ranging from the 9th grade through university level and representing 25 schools in five counties. For the Prelude Brunch, Chamber Music Coordinator Jim Banks will present four ensembles including a string quartet, a brass choir, a flute trio and an oboe trio.

Brunch-goers will also be treated to a preview of items for the Ball's silent auction, donated by Princeton Forrestal Village merchants.

The Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra Masked Ball Benefit, Silent Auction and Prelude Brunch cost $75 per person. For reservations, call 683-0777.

Dixieland Jazz Band To Play at State Theatre

The Dukes of Dixieland will play New Orleans jazz at the State Theatre in New Brunswick on Sunday, February 19, at 3.

The concert features music from New Orleans, the place jazz was born. The Dukes blend ragtime and Dixieland with blues, swing, and be-bop, giving 60 or 70 concerts per year.

Preserving such Dixieland favorites as Bourbon Street Parade and Basin Street Blues, the Dukes formed in 1949 when the Assunto brothers, trumpet player Frankie and trombonist Freddie, decided to play together as the Dukes of Dixieland. A third family member, Pappa Jac, joined them later.

With the addition of other New Orleans musicians, the Dukes of Dixieland gained popularity in the 1950's and 60's. In 1956, they became the first jazz group to record in stereo.

Fred Assunto died in 1962, and Frank returned to New Orleans where the Dukes of Dixieland continued to perform until his death in 1973. With the assistance of New Orleans producer John Shoup, the Assunto widows vowed to preserve and maintain the group known as the Dukes of Dixieland.

Current members of the group are leader Frank Trapani on trumpet and flugelhorn, Harry Watters on the trombone, Mike Waddel on clarinet and alto saxophone, Phamous Lambert at the keyboard, Eric Glaser on bass and Duke Barker on drums.

Tickets are $25, $20, $16 and $12. For information, call (201) 246-7469. Students and senior citizens are eligible for half price tickets after 4 p.m. on the day of the performance.

Organ Recital Planned At Princeton Seminary

Princeton Theological Seminary will present an organ recital Friday at 8 in Miller Chapel to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the installation of the Moller pipe organ.

The guest organist will be John Rose, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. Mr. Rose will perform works by Charles Marie Widor, Marcel Dupre, Cesar Franck, Henry Mulet, and Louis Vierne.

Two future organ recitals at Miller chapel will also highlight the 25th anniversary of the organ. On Friday, April 14, Dr. John Weaver of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City will perform and on Monday, July 3, Dr. William Whitehead of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York will be guest organist.

The recital is free and open to the public. For more information call 497-7760.

Jazz Society Concert Set for This Sunday

'A Decade of Diaghilev' Focus for NJSO Concert

Music Director Hugh Wolff and the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will present the second of the three-part "Music Turns the Century" series on Saturday, February 18, at 8 at the War Memorial Theatre, Trenton.

"A Decade of Diaghilev" will feature works by composers commissioned between 1910 and 1920 by the ballet master Serge Diaghilev for his Ballets Russes company in Paris. The works to be performed are deFalla's Suite No. 2 from The Three Cornered Hat (1919), Satie's Parade (1917), and Stravinsky's complete The Firebird (1910).

The Music Turns the Century series, which features works spanning the 1890's through the 1920's, presents what Music Director Wolff believes to be some of the finest early 20th-century pieces, by composers who had a significant impact on the course of future music. Part III will be heard in May with works by Ravel, Prokofiev and Sibelius and guest artist Jeffrey Kahane, pianist.

Tickets are available at $9.50 to $28. Student and senior citizen rush tickets can be purchased one-half hour before performance at $5, subject to availability. The NJSO box office can be reached at (201) 624-8203 or toll-free at 1-800-Allegro, Monday through Friday, 9 to 3. Group discounts are also available.

Violinist to Perform With Trenton Symphony

The Greater Trenton Symphony will perform a concert of music by French Romantic composers Sunday, February 19, at 7 in the War Memorial in Trenton.

Violinist Joseph Lanza of Philadelphia will perform Poeme by Ernest Chausson and Tzigane by Marice Ravel. The program will also include Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun by Debussy and Sinfonie Phantastique by Hector Berlioz.

Mr. Lanza's father, uncle and five cousins all play in the string section of the Philadelphia Orchestra, and his father and uncle are both members of the string section of the Greater Trenton Symphony. Mr. Lanza received his first lessons from his father before studying at the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts.

He has been concertmaster of the Knoxville, Tenn., Symphony and the Thunder Bay, Ontario, Symphony. He has also performed as a part-time violinist with the Philadelphia Orchestra and performs as a chamber musician and soloist in the Philadelphia area and in Canada. He is currently concertmaster with Orchestra London in Ontario.

Tickets for the February 19 concert range from $6 to $10. Call 394-1338 for reservations. Visa and Mastercard are welcome.

IT'S NEW To Us

Quality Men's Clothing Featured at Alan Royce

"We offer updated traditional men's clothing. That includes two-button suits and jackets, pleated suits and updated shirt collars. We're also a big advocate of natural fibers. We have all wool tropical suits, cotton and wool sweaters, cotton shirts and silk ties. We feel we fit a niche here in town."

Having recently celebrated the fifth anniversary of Alan Royce, his men's shop at 20 Nassau Street, Alan Haines is very pleased that not only has business been good, it is still growing. "People are more interested in clothes now," he remarks. "I think they're dressing up a little more now. Most people seem to feel better when they're dressed up. Our best-selling shirt now is the white dress shirt, and this is quite a change. The pinstripe suit is always popular, and charcoal blue is the best-selling color. Stripes and patterns are popular now, too, and the navy blue blazer is still the best selling jacket. We make it in four different fabrications."

Although, as he notes, menswear doesn't change that much, Mr. Haines does see a trend toward more color. "The clothes are getting a bit more colorful. This is true of everything — sweaters, ties, even suits. You're definitely seeing accent colors in suiting, and color is especially obvious in ties now. You'll find bright colors, too, and there are more geometric designs and Hermes-type prints. The tie is really one of the most important things in the wardrobe. It can make or break an outfit. It's definitely a focal point. Bow ties are also popular, and there is the same emphasis on color and a variety of patterns. We take pride in our neckwear."

Mr. Haines, who worked in menswear in New York and Pennsylvania before opening Alan Royce, believes knowledgeable guidance can be very helpful to customers, especially in dealing with the more adventurous color combinations. "We try to give a direction to people, help them with advice if they wish," he observes. "We try to do a story of color that all works together, with tie and braces, for example. Color with color and pattern with pattern. It used to be you'd wear a solid shirt with a plaid suit. That's not necessarily true anymore. There's more versatility and flexibility today.

UPDATED AND TRADITIONAL: "Service is the key here," says Alan Haines, owner of Alan Royce. "We care about our customers and how they look. We give a lot of personal attention. We want people to feel pleased. We have a nice cross section of customers, from the young newly graduated to retired people."

"We just offer advice and maybe some subtle persuasion about color combinations," he continues. "Ultimately, of course, the customer has to feel comfortable with what he's buying or he won't wear it."

Pleats and double-breasted suits are seen more often now, he adds, and "65 percent of our suits are pleated and in both dress and casual pants, too. Double breasted jackets are popular now, as well as the suits, and this is true in tuxedo jackets also. You're also seeing non-vented jackets now.

"We've added a new line, Perry Ellis," he continues, "although we're basically not a label-conscious store. Most of the clothes carry our own label — Alan Royce — and we stand behind that."

Accessories. In the accessory line, Mr. Haines reports that braces and hosiery are big sellers right now. "Braces are very hot. We sell eight or nine braces to one belt, and they come in a variety of fabrics and styles. Also, in hosiery now, you see a lot of patterns, including teardrop, herringbone, birdseye and tick weed, as well as the argyle. The over-the-calf length is the most popular."

Service has to be number one for any retail operation, he believes, and Alan Royce works hard to fit the changing needs of its customers. "The bottom line is business," he explains. "There are some great men's stores in this town. The key has to be service. We must be more service-oriented."

With that in mind, the store has recently added a new concept — the store without walls. "We do a lot more outside sales," explains Mr. Haines. "We'll go to busy customers, to their offices or homes, to save them time. We also do seminars occasionally. We've been doing this about a year, and it's been a success.

"We've also done very well with made-to-measure clothing and dress shirts. We take all the pertinent measurements and the garment is made for that man. For example, a man can have a shirt made to order — color, style, French cuffs, type of collar, etc. This is a very popular concept for us.

"We also do a lot of shipping," he continues. "We maintain customers' sizing here and then can send whatever they order right on to them. And, of course, we also deliver."

He adds that the staff has been expanded, too. "We try to have very knowledgeable people. Andy Gensey, our manager, is my right hand and has been here three years. Scott Bogenrief, who has recently joined us, is the assistant manager, and we also have a tailor and seamstress and provide in-store alterations."

The spring line of clothes is beginning to come in now, with a lot more light weight items, and Mr. Haines notes that "We have a nice cruise package of all-cotton polo shirts, lightweight trousers, shorts, swim suits and windbreakers."

Rainwear can be a big item as spring draws near, and he says that the popular trench coat is still a big seller, and "We also have a travel raincoat that folds up into a pouch. It's all-cotton and is single or double-breasted." He adds that "we carry everything from basic outerwear to the finest and most unusual imported leather and suedes from Sweden."

Mr. Haines adds that he hopes people will take a look at the shop's windows. "We take a lot of pride in our windows and work very hard to make them special."

A mid-winter sale is in progress at Alan Royce with many winter items at 50 percent off. Generally, prices range from $25 for neckwear ($18.50 for bow ties), $25 and up for braces, $30 and up for shirts, $38.50 for lightweight cotton pants, $175 and up for jackets and $250 and up for suits.

Gift certificates and gift boxes are available, and Mr. Haines says that customers can be sure of personal attention when they shop at Alan Royce. "I like working the floor, and I like seeing the product," he says. "I'm not an absentee manager. People can talk to me right away, and I hear their comments. I like to get the feedback."

Alan Royce is open Monday-Saturday 9:30 to 5:30 and Thursday until 8:30.

The Priee Is Right At Step 'N' Out Shoes

"My shoes are comparable to what you'll find in department stores. Ninety-nine percent of them are leather. They're not seconds, but all top quality," says Mary Meyer, owner of Step 'N' Out in the Montgomery Shopping Center.

"We have a complete line of ladies' shoes," she continues, "from high heels to flats to loafers to sneakers, and they are all priced at $16.90. We also have a variety of boots, including little low boots, all-weather boots and dressy. The range from $16 to $35, and right now we're offering a special of $8 off when you purchase two pairs."

Step 'N' Out opened its doors four years ago this March, and it is Mrs. Meyer's first business venture. "I was a housewife and very happy," she recalls. "I used to think being home was the greatest thing for me. I had never thought of having a shop, but the circumstances just worked out. My brother-in-law is the buyer, and he helped me. My husband liked the idea, and so Step 'N' Out became a reality.

"I don't regret a moment of it," she adds. "It's fun. I love to come here. The store has turned out to be a complete pleasure for me, and I can't think of my life in any other way now."

A New Jersey native (born in Princeton and now living in Montgomery), Mrs. Meyer has been especially pleased with the Montgomery Shopping Center location and the affiliation with the other merchants.

STEP IN AT STEP 'N' OUT: "There is nothing in the area like our store, with all the shoes at one price — $16.90," says Mary Meyer, owner. "Every week we get new shipments in. There are new things all the time, and they are all top brand names."

"We're very close. We all get together," she remarks. "Last July, we started a merchant's association for the Center, and I was elected president. We hold monthly meetings, and everyone pitches in."

She is very happy with the way busines has been going. "The first two years were absolutely beyond my expectations. It was fantastic! Then, it began to level out and was more realistic, but we are always busy. We carry a very good quality shoe, and people are surprised that the majority of the shoes are leather. They say they have seen the same shoes in New York for $75 and $80. And, of course, they're delighted with our prices. On an average, people leave here with at least two pairs of shoes.

"Right now, all my fall and winter shoes are $12," she adds, "and the new arrivals for spring are $16.90. We'll be carrying a lot of pastels for spring and lots of colors. Navy, red and beige are big, and we have lots of patent leather which is popular year-round now. Also, the basic pump always sells, and navy, black and brown are basic all year. Suede is very popular in the fall and winter, and we still have a selection. We'll also be getting in a lot of flats for spring."

Step 'N' Out carries a wide variety of styles, sizes (5 to 10) and colors.

Low, mid and high heels as well as flats, loafers and athletic and walking shoes are all available, and dressy styles of silver lame, gold and bronze are offered for glamorous occasions.

Trend to Comfort. Mrs. Meyer sees a growing trend toward comfort these days. "I find that a lot of women, like myself, who used to wear heels all the time, want comfortable shoes now. Mid to low heels are popular. People want the shoe to look fashionable but to be comfortable."

All ages from teens on up seem to find what they're looking for at Step 'N' Out. "The young kids love the sweater boots," reports Mrs. Meyer. "These are sturdy winter boots which lace up to the ankle and are trimmed with fabric at the top. We have all types of boots from little suede styles to cowboy boots with fringe to dressy leather to all weather in a variety of colors."

The shop also carries hosiery, handbags, wallets and a selection of jewelry, and she adds that just about the hottest seller among the younger set is the stirrup sock. "This has been a tremendous seller for us. I don't think it's anywhere else in this area. It's really two socks — one sock has a stirrup bottom so you don't have the bulk of the second sock on the foot. It's detachable, and you can have all different color combinations. I have to keep reordering these all the time."

Mrs. Meyer also expects a large selection of handbags in for spring, including all sizes, styles and colors, ranging from $9 (cloth) up to $29. Wallets are $4.99 to$9.99 and jewelry (necklaces, bracelets and earrings) from $3 to $24.

"We're also having a special Valentine's Day promotion," she adds. "For every two pairs of $16.90 shoes you buy, you'll get a $2 coupon for any candy at Robinson's Candy Store here at the Center. It will continue to Valentine's Day."

Gift certificates are available, credit cards accepted, and although Step 'N' Out is a self-service store, there is always someone to give customers a hand, as well as lots of room to try on the shoes.

"We'll give people advice and information if they want it," says Mrs. Meyer. "We'll tell them how various shoes fit, etc. Donna Johnson is my manager, and she has been with me the whole time. She's really my right hand and is very knowledgeable about the shoes. Her expertise is a big help."

Step 'N' Out is open Monday through Wednesday and Saturday 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday 10 to 9 and Sunday 12 to 5.

Trip to Craft Fair Set By Area Art Group

Artworks has scheduled a trip to the American Craft Council Craft Fair in Baltimore, Md., on Saturday, February 18. The bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 8 a.m. and should return to Princeton by 9 p.m.

The craft fair, one of the largest in the country, will be held at the Baltimore Convention Center. Contemporary works by 500 artisans — working in wood, glass, ceramics, leather, metal, and textiles — will be available.

After visiting the fair, the group will dine at Hausner's Restaurant.

Cost of the trip is $35 for Artworks members and $40 for nonmembers. The price includes transportation and admission for the fair. It does not include lunch or dinner.

For further information, call 921-9173.

Sculptor to Address Success in Art World

Sculptor Albert Terris will lecture on "The Success and Value of Sculpture in the Art World" on Tuesday, February 14, in Rnom AV 110 on the West Windsor campus nf Mercer County Community College. The free lecture begins at 11:15 a.m.

Mr. Terris, who is professor emeritus of sculpture at Brooklyn College, CUNY, has worked in terra cotta and metal. His innovative steel sculptures have brought him recognition as a pioneer in contemporary art.

Winter Craft Classes Set By YWCA Artisans Guild

It's not too late to register for a YWCA Artisans Guild winter class.

Suzanne Inomata, who has studied the Ohara method of Ikebana (Japanese flower arranging) in Japan, will give instruction in the four basic Ohara method styles on Wednesday evenings, February 15 to March 15. There will be time for students to complete an arrangement each week. Award-winning quilt artist Sue Rogers will present a day long workshop in fine handquilting techniques on Monday, March 6, and on Saturday, March 11, Joan Sharpless of the Bucks County Guild of Craftsmen will offer an all-day basketry workshop.

Registration for these Princeton YWCA Artisans Guild classes is now in progress. For further information, call the YWCA, 497-2100.

Exhibits

Watercolor paintings by Miriam T. Friend, of Princeton, are currently on display at the Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill.

Landscapes, still lifes, and flower paintings are included in the show, one of a continuing series of exhibits of the work of area artists held in the library.

The exhibit will last through February and is free and open to the public.

"Ruminations: Abstract Painting and Sculpture," will open at Artworks/Trenton, 19 Everett Alley, on Friday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the opening and to view the show, which will run through April 1. In conjunction with the show, a gallery walk will be held Saturday, February 25, from to 2 to 4 p.m.

Featured New Jersey artists include Victor Davson, Diana Gonzalez Gondolfi, Hannah Fink, Barbara Klein, Patrick Strzelec, and Debra Weier.

Artworks, formerly the Princeton Art Association, operates the Art Center of Trenton.

An exhibit of photographs by B.A. King will be on display in the Kirby Arts Center at the Lawrenceville School from February 9 to 28. The show, "Statements of Affection," will open with a reception for the photographer from 7 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, February 9.

B.A. King chronicles ordinary objects and everyday events, in an attempt to portray the grace of the human condition.

The exhibit is free and open to the public.

"Canal Edges," a small exhibit of pastels by J.N. Betz, will be at the Hopewell Frame Shop and Gallery through April 1.

The show consists of pastels of the Delaware Raritan Canal

"Fears and Desires," a display of relief paintings by Debra Weier, will open February 25 at AT&T's Corporate Education Center Gallery on Carter Road in Hopewell. The opening reception is scheduled for March 2 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Ms. Weier's work is in many major collections, including the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and British Museums, Harvard University, AT&T, and Prudential Insurance. She is currently in a show at the American Craft Museum in New York, and has received two grants from the New Jersey State Arts Council.

Tiger Five Gains Split; Columbia, Cornell Next

Pete Carril can't figure out his 11-5 (3-1 Ivy) Princeton basketball team, and after watching two very different teams wearing Orange and Black play last Friday and Saturday, the rest of us can't either.

Friday, in a 63-57 loss to Harvard, the Tigers looked inept in all phases of the game, leaving everybody wondering how they ever put together a 10-4 record. Saturday in a 63-53 triumph over Dartmouth, Old Nassau looked like a team that will be in the Ivy title chase until the end

(Tuesday's game against undefeated Penn was too late to be included here.)

Now it's off on another road trip, this time to New York for contests against Columbia Friday night and Cornell on Saturday. Obviously, a pair of victories against these two second-division opponents is needed to keep Princeton in the race. The Tigers cannot assume either Dartmouth or Penn will lose there.

The tougher battle should come Friday night in New York against the Lions, who managed a split on their trip to Brown and Yale last weekend. Cornell lost most of its Ivy champion team to graduation, and was out of the running early.

"You just don't know what is going to happen with this team," Carril said Saturday night. "I've not been able to get a pulse on this team at all. Sometimes I think this is the poorest coaching job I've done. Strange things keep happening, and as a coach I can't get a sense for it. It makes you feel like you don't know what you're doing."

Shooting the Difference. The big difference in the two games last weekend was Princeton's shooting. Against Harvard, it couldn't buy a basket, hitting just 41 percent of the shots from the field. Saturday night, it was 20 percentage points better. Give the Crimson credit for some of that disparity; its defense was much better than the Big Green's.

HIS 26 POINTS WERE NOT ENOUGH: Bob Scrabis got two on this layup in the first half against Harvard Friday night, but his 26 points were not enough to prevent a 63-57 triumph by the Crimson.

But overall, Princeton was a much better team Saturday night, perhaps reacting to its dismal showing 24 hours earlier. Moreover, Dartmouth may still have been in shock from its loss in Philadelphia, where it blew a 20-point halftime lead.

———

Whatever the reason, the Tigers trailed only briefly in the opening minutes, and then opened up a nine-point lead, 16-7, after eight minutes of play. Jim Barton carried Dartmouth along with 18 first-half points, but when he went out with a hip injury near the end of the first half, the Tigers turned a one-point lead into nine, 38-29, at the intermission.

Barton played the second half, ending up with 29, but in contrast to Friday night when Bob Scrabis and Kit Mueller had to do it all, the Princeton scoring was more balanced. Jerry Doyle rebounded from a poor shooting performance against Harvard to hit four of five three-pointers, and ended with 14 points, before spraining his ankle.

Matt Lapin also improved, scoring seven; Chris Marquardt had five. It's no wonder Carril is never sure whom to use with Scrabis, Mueller and Doyle. Someone will play horribly one night, and well the next.

In the second half, the Orange and Black extended its lead to 13 early on, then, typically, let Dartmouth get back in the game and close to three at 46-43 with 8:54 left. But three-pointers by Doyle and Lappin helped build the advantage back up to eight with 4:27 remaining, and Dartmouth never really threatened thereafter.

Mueller was high man for the Tigers with 19 points, Scrabis contributed 11.

No Upset This Year. Last winter when Princeton lost to Harvard by one point in Jadwin, it was viewed as a stunning upset for the "title-bound" Tigers. The oddsmakers had the Crimson as an 8- to 10-point underdog again this year, but Friday night's outcome was no upset.

Although you couldn't explain it by its overall record of 6-9 coming into Jadwin, Harvard outplayed the Tigers in every phase of the game. It started slowly this season because at least three key players — Ralph James, Fred Schemecker and Neil Phillips — were missing from the lineup.

This Harvard team has lost two to Dartmouth, and was beaten in the Palestra Saturday night, but the Crimson has its most difficult games behind it, and could win the rest. The same could be said of Dartmouth.

The key word in this game was tempo: Harvard dictated it with an aggressive full court press, and an offense that did not wait long to shoot. It canned more than 50 percent of its three-point shots (7 of 13), and made 51 percent of its shots overall.

Princeton looked shaky and uncertain trying to bring the ball up court against the pressure; it was never able to break free for an uncontested layup. Time and again, Tiger players with a chance to go for a quick basket during the transition up court hesitated and waited for the offense to set up.

When it did, it was painfully obvious the majority of the time that either Scrabis or Mueller would have to take the shot. Scrabis had a superb evening, hitting nine of 16 and finishing with 26 points, but Mueller was often forced into taking poor percentage shots, and made just five of 12 attempts.

It was an off night for Doyle as well. The sophomore guard did not connect on four attempts from three-point range. As usual Carril shuttled a variety of players in and out trying to find the right combination. Judging by the scoresheet it seemed to be Marquardt, who hit a couple of three-pointers in the second half, and Matt Henshon, not Matt Lapin and Troy Hottenstein, who did little in their combined 41 minutes.

With all the negatives, Princeton still had its shot at pulling this one out. Taking the lead for good midway through the first period, Harvard led by six, 28-22, at the half. It upped that margin to 14, 46-32, midway through the final 20 minutes.

Scrabis started the Princeton rally with a three-pointer with 6:26 remaining, and over the course of the next five minutes Princeton reduced the deficit to two, 55-53, on another three from Scrabis with 1:43 remaining. However, the visitors scored the next four for a 59-53 lead with 40 seconds remaining, and victory was assured.

One of the key players in Harvard's pressing defense was 6'7 freshman Ron Mitchell, who is the best rookie in the league Harvard coach Pete Roby feels, and will dominate before he graduates. He was also heavily recruited by Princeton. The Tigers have understandably lost good hockey players to Harvard for years; it's a bad omen when the better basketball players also head to Cambridge.

Tigers Hang on in Race After Victory in Hanover

Just one period away from certain eliminatinn from the ECAC playoffs, the Princeton hockey team came to life and pulled out a 5-4 overtime victory over Dartmouth Saturday night.

After a 7-2 loss to Harvard the previous evening, the victory still leaves Princeton 10 points short of eighth place with six games to play. Yale has suddenly come alive, and after beating Harvard at home a week ago Tuesday, the Elis knocked off Vermont and RPI on the road. They are now tied with the faltering Catamounts for seventh place.

That spurt by Yale unfortunately relegates Princeton's victory tn the "too little, too late" category. Just to tie either Vermont or Yale with 16 points, the Tigers would have to capture five of their next six while those two go winless the rest of the way. Dartmouth has a somewhat better chance of overtaking one of those two.

Back home at Baker Rink this weekend, the Tigers will meet RPI Friday night and Vermont Saturday (7:30 start for both). The Orange and Black lost to both these teams on the road in December.

Will anything be different this time around? Does the victory over Dartmouth signal a turnaround for coach Jim Higgins' skaters, or was it just an isolated moment of joy in an otherwise dismal season?

It's difficult to say. Princeton could play its heart out this weekend, and still lose to these two solid opponents. But while a playoff berth may now be out of the question, it would be nice to see the Orange and Black finish on a positive note by winning at least half of their remaining games. That would double the number of victories the Tigers (5-15 overall) have achieved in ECAC competition to date.

Third Period a Plus. For perhaps the first time this season, Princeton used the final period to its advantage at Hanover. Each team scored once in the first period, Andre Faust getting the Tigers' goal, but the home team tallied two more in the second to take a 3-1 lead into the third.

The Tigers' turnaround began just 42 seconds into the third when the reconstituted "Suburban Sniper" line of John Messuri, Greg Polaski and Bart Blaeser tallied, with Blaeser putting the puck in the net. The real spark for the team came at 7:59 when Chris Hughes hustled his way to a shorthanded goal to deadlock the game at three apiece at 7:59. Six minutes later Sean Murphy put the Tigers ahead, 4-3.

They couldn't manage to hold that lead until the end of regulation time, allowing Dartmouth to tie the score with about 2½ minutes remaining. In the overtime, Faust and Polaski broke from the blue line on a two-on-one with the freshman feeding Polaksi for the winning score with 3:17 gone.

Mark Salsbury played a solid game in goal, saving 44 of 48 shots. Dartmouth outshot Princeton by eight.

Little Chance at Cambridge. Princeton's chances of pulling off an upset in Cambridge were slim to begin with, and they disappeared altogether when the Crimson's 17-game winning streak was snapped at New Haven three days earlier. Coming home after that defeat, the Cantabs were not about to let down against the Tigers.

Dominating the action from the start, Harvard tallied twice in the first period and once in the second, before the Orange and Black got on the scoreboard. Messuri made it 3-1 early in the second, assisted by Blaeser and Kevin Sullivan. The home team struck for two more late in the period for a 5-1 lead after two.

The third period was a mere formality, with neither team doing much of anything for the first 15 minutes. Then, almost as an afterthought, the Crimson added a quick pair a minute apart. Old Nassau's second and last goal came from the same trio as the first with Blaeser putting the puck in the net.

Peter Ciavaglia, Ted Donato and Allen Bourheau each had a goal and an assist for Harvard. Princeton was outshot by a margin of 48 to 19. Salsbury made 31 saves in two periods, and High kicked away 10 shots in the final frame.

PHS Matmen Win 2 of 3 To Even Record at 4-4

The Princeton High wrestling team sandwiched wins over Steinert and Hopewell Valley around a loss to Notre Dame last week to even its record at 4-4.

"We have three matches left with Lawrenceville, Lawrence and South Hunterdon and we expect to win all three," said PHS coach Matt Wilkinson. If successful, that would give PHS a winning record — something the Little Tigers have not savored since 1978.

Before those final three bouts, PHS will oppose Hamilton, which boasts a 13-2 record, this Wednesday evening at Hamilton and compete in the Mercer County tournament this weekend at Trenton High.

Wilkinson predicted that Anthony Cucchi, 13-1 in the 160-pound class, Alex Fox, 11-2 at 119 pounds and Alfie Zullo, 11-2 at 152 pounds, would be seeded high in the tourney. Two others with a good chance, he said, were Lawrence Mansier (8-3), who has not been defeated by any County opponent, and Dan Knoepflmacher (8-4-1), who has tied and lost by one point to the top two wrestlers in his 189-pound class — Jim Renna (12-1-1) of West Windsor (2-2 tie) and Jim Challender (12-4) of Notre Dame.

Quite a Finish. PHS came from behind to defeat Steinert, 38-31, Saturday with a string of five consecutive pins in which four of the five Little Tigers were wrestling up a weight. "It was quite a finish," agreed Wilkinson.

Princeton's run began at 145 with a 3:49 fall by Larry Mansier. Wilkinson had no intention of using Mansier, his regular 135-pounder, who had missed the previous two matches with a muscle virus. But Wilkinson, in a psychological ploy, had Mansier suit up anyway "just to make them think we are going to use you."

When PHS fell behind, Wilkinson turned to Mansier and told him, "If we are going to win, you are going to have to wrestle at 145."

In quick succession, Josh Lederman pinned in 5:03, Zullo pinned in 1:23, Cucchi pinned in 2:53 at 171 pounds, giving away 15 pounds, and Dan Knoepflmacher pinned in 2:00 at 189. "They all responded. They all wanted to beat Steinert so badly," said a proud Wilkinson. PHS received decisions from Fox and Jim Greer at 130 pounds and a draw from Vincent Franze at 112 pounds for its other eight points.

Two days earlier, in a make-up bout with Notre Dame, it was Princeton's turn to bite the bullet late in a match. Falling behind 13-0 early on, Princeton clawed its way back into the match and when Pat Spring pinned his opponent in 2:10 in his 171-pound match, PHS had the lead for the first time, 30-25.

That brought up a pivotal match between Knoepflmacher and the Irish's favored Tim Challender, because ND heavyweight Mark Korpusinki — with an 11-3 record second best in the County — was a favorite to beat PHS heavyweight Will Dickerson.

Knoepflmacher battled Challender to a 2-2 standoff but lost a 3-2 decision when the referee called Knoepflmacher for stalling in the final period.

"Had he tied, we would have won the match," said Wilkinson. "It's real sad because we should have won that match."

Korpusinki made it a 34-30 final for Notre Dame when he flattened Dickerson in 4:18.

PHS received forfeit wins at 125, 152 and 160 pounds but gave one back when it forfeited at 135. Greer and Lederman both won one-point decisions for the Little Tigers.

PHS began the week by crushing then winless Hopewell Valley, 60-14, behind four forfeit wins and pins by Fox, Greer, Lederman, Zullo and Knoepflmacher. Hopewell compiled its points on two forfeits, a decision by Dave Hulfish over Jim Brophy and an 18-1 technical fall by the Bulldogs' standout wrestler Jeremy Romano over Princeton's Jason Kirby in the opening bout.

"Everybody looked good," said Wilkinson, who described the match as "pivotal" in determining whether the Little Tigers ended up with a winning season or not.

TEACHER AND PUPILS: Hun's Bonnie Lepold (15) shows four Lawrenceville School players how to drive to the basket for a shot. Visiting Larries learned well, as they overcame a Hun lead to win, 31-28.

Hun Quintet Struggling: Three Losses Last Week

"I don't know what it is. I think we just play to the level of the competition instead of rising to the occasion," said a nonplused Dennis Lepold this week, as his Hun girls basketball team lost back-to-back games to Steinert and Lawrenceville over the weekend and to Oak Knoll earlier in the week. Four setbacks in a row have dropped Hun to 5-9.

Hun is scheduled to end its regular season this Wednesday by entertaining Pingry in a 3:45 contest before competing in the prep school State and Mercer County tournaments.

In both games against Steinert and Lawrenceville, Hun got progressively worse. Its scoring by quarters against Steinert was 10-7-4-2 and against Lawrenceville 10-8-6-4. "We missed too many opportunities to score; we're just not converting," said Lepold.

"We have to force the other team to turn the ball over and create opportunities. We have to make those 10-foot shots because we aren't going to get a second chance. We're not that tall."

Visiting Steinert caught Hun in the third period and then put the game away by outscoring Hun 11-2 in the final period to make it a 35-23 final. Kristi Kungl led Hun with seven points while Michelle Bonacci had six. Bonnie Lepold, Hun's leading scorer, who began the week with a 17.4 average, was limited to six points by the Spartans, who won their 14th game in 18 starts.

The previous day, after freshman Becky Jensen converted back-to-back inbound steals, Hun had its biggest lead against Lawrenceville, 8-2, with 4:44 left in the first period. Hun held off the taller visitors throughout the next period to take an 18-15 halftime lead.

But in the second half, Hun began to misfire on its scoring opportunities and Lawrenceville came on to win its ninth, 31-28. Jensen ended with 14 — half of Hun's points — while Lepold and Bonacci combined for ten more. Carole Kostrzewa's 13 paced Lawrenceville.

Hun began the week with a 42-35 loss to visiting Oak Knoll, who led 22-15 at the half behind the shooting of Lorna Dolan. Dolan finished with a game-high 19 for the Blue Royals.

Lepold connected for 17 points to lead Hun and she got solid support from Kungl who popped for 13. Both Lepold and Kungl are juniors.

Women's Hockey Splits 2 Games in Baker Rink

The Princeton women's hockey team gained a split in weekend action, but the game it wanted most to win got away.

Harvard, undefeated in Ivy play, rallied from a 2-0 deficit to win 5-3 Saturday afternoon. A pair of power play goals brought the Crimson to a 2-2 tie at the end of the first period.

The visitors then took a 3-2 lead, and the Tigers needed a power play of their own to tie the score. The winning goal came at the start of the third with the Cantabs shorthanded. They added an insurance score later in the game. Sue Finney, Lisa Firestone and Eleanor Tydings scored for the Orange and Black.

On Sunday, the girls rebounded to beat Dartmouth, 5-4. This time Princeton fell behind 2-0 in the first period, but goals by Mollie Marcoux and Firestone brought about a 2-2 tie at the end of two. Marcoux added two

A THREE-PERIOD STRUGGLE: PDS captain Jeff Zawadsky looks to clear the puck out of the Panthers' zone Monday night against Chatham High. It was a long evening for the Blue and White, which dropped a 7-1 decision to the visitors. Greg Smith averted a shutout for PDS when he scored in the third period, knocking in the rebound of a shot by Zawadsky. (W. L. Bill Allen, Jr. photo) more in the first 10 minutes of the third, but the Big Green refused to quit and tied the game at 4-4. With 3:15 left in the game, Finney scored the winning goal, assisted by Marcoux and Shari Wolkon.

Princeton is 4-2 in the league and 7-6 overall, but realistically has little chance of catching Harvard. This weekend it will play Brown and Providence on Saturday and Sunday.

Basketball Loses Twice. It was another forgettable weekend for the women's basketball team, which fell to 0-4 (7-8 overall) in the league with a pair of losses to Harvard and Dartmouth on the road.

On Friday, freshman Corneille Burt had career highs in points with 22 and rebounds with 12, but it was an off night for everyone else. Sandi Bittler scored just nine, and JoJo Rein had 10. The Crimson, undefeated in league play, led 30-28 at the half, and won 65-60.

The next night in Hanover, the Orange and Black was out of contention early, and lost 81-54. Bittler scored 19, but no one else made it to double figures. The Big Green at 4-1 will battle Harvard for the league title, while Princeton, which has been a contender the last few years, will have to settle for the role of spoiler this winter.

After a game scheduled against Penn this past Tuesday, the women will meet Columbia and Cornell in Jadwin on Friday and Saturday night.

In other action, the men's swimming team defeated Harvard 60-53 in Dillon Pool before a sellout crowd. The Tigers are 5-1, and will face league leader Columbia (6-0) Wednesday night here.

A notable victory was achieved by the men's squash team in beating Harvard, 8-1, breaking a 72-match win streak by the Cantabs over the last 6½ seasons. The 5-0 Orange and Black is a certain bet to win the Ivy title. The women's squash team also remained undefeated, beating Trinity 9-0 and Harvard 6-3 over the weekend.

Loss Better Than Win For PDS Hockey Team

Well, not quite, but after the Princeton Day hockey team split a pair of games last week, coach Bill Minter was far more satisfied with his team's performance in the 9-3 loss to Upland than he was with the 9-6 win over Dwight-Englewood.

The victory over DE last Thursday at PDS at least had the distinction of coming in the first round of the State Tournament (B Level). As a result, this Friday at 1:15 at Lawrenceville's Lavino Rink, PDS will play the winner of the Morristown-Beard Montclair Kimberley game for the championship. Two days earlier it will meet Hopewell Valley at PDS.

Minter is obviously pleased that his Panthers beat Dwight, but he was not happy with the performance. His team built up seemingly safe leads of 3-0, 5-0, 6-2 during the game, but allowed the visitors to get back in the contest in the third period. PDS was guilty of some very sloppy defensive play that allowed DE easy goals.

Fortunately, PDS had a potent offense working for it. Keeping the puck in the Dwight zone throughout the first period, it scored three times, with Matt Henderson, Chris Overman and Jamie Simpson getting the goals. Henderson scored his second, and Campbell Levy added another to build the lead to 5-0 before Dwight got a quick pair.

Before the period ended, Mike Dawes tallied the sixth for PDS to make it 6-2. However, the visitors climbed back to within two, 7-5, in the third, and PDS needed Henderson to complete his hat trick, and a pair of goals by Baronian to keep from seeing this one slip away. Steve Eaton and Andy Dykstra had two assists apiece.

Missing a pair of defensemen, Will Fisher and Mark Trowbridge, on Saturday against Upland, PDS lost 9-3, but played a much better game. The action was fairly even, but the home team just had a better touch at putting the puck in the net, because of superior passing and an ability to get the puck out of the corners in the PDS zone.

PDS goals came from Baronian, Greg Smith and Hardy Royal.

PDS Girls Fall to 7-3 After Pair of Defeats

Despite a pair of tough losses last week, Princeton Day coach Jill Thomas is certain "we're where we want to be" at this point in the season.

A 38-32 defeat by Kent Place last Wednesday, followed by a 23-21 loss to Montclair Kimberley, have dropped the Panthers to 7-3 this season after a fast start. However, Thomas — who is trying for a winning record in her first season — is relaxed. "The only thing this will hurt is our seeding in the tournament," she pointed out. "We're not going to turn it around in a day."

Wednesday's loss to Kent Place was a coach's nightmare. PDS committed every conceivable kind of turnover, 39 in all, during the game. Timory Howe scored eight points, Sarah Foster had seven, and Julie Howard, six, but nothing could overcome those turnovers.

On Friday, PDS and MKA were locked in a defensive struggle that PDS was on the verge of winning entering the fourth period. The Blue and White had built up a 20-12 lead through three periods, but everything went wrong in the fourth.

Princeton Day couldn't buy a basket, and the home team slowly closed the gap. With time running out and the score tied at 21 apiece, MKA missed a foul shot but grabbed the rebound and threw up a desperation shot that went in for the winning points. Howe had seven points, Foster and Howard six apiece.

After a make-up game scheduled against Newark Academy this past Tuesday, PDS will meet Medford Vo-Tech at home Friday, and have another make-up contest with Rutgers Prep next Monday in place of the Villa Victoria game. Seedings for the prep tournament will be announced next week.

Season Winding Down For Weary PHS Five

54 ... 51 ... 44... In its last start the point production of the Princeton High basketball team hit rock bottom: 24 points in a 65-24 loss to Ewing.

The season has been a disaster for the Little Tigers (two wins, 15 losses) and it looks as if coach Doug Snyder's observation — "It might be a two-win season" — will stand up. With only three seniors left on the squad, Snyder admits that he is looking toward the future; the only bright spot for the current campaign is that the end is in sight.

PHS will be at West Windsor Thursday evening and will play its scheduled final game on Tuesday by entertaining Hopewell Valley in a 7:30 contest. One makeup game remaining, a game with Hopewell that was snowed out in January, has been rescheduled for February 22 at 7 at the Hopewell Valley gym.

THIS IS HOW(E) IT'S DONE: Timory Howe got two of her 14 points on this lay-up Monday in Princeton Day's 52-26 beating of Hun. Sarah Foster topped all scorers with 17, and Jane Heap added nine. PDS jumped out to a 10-4 lead after one period, and never looked back. (W. L. Bill Allen, Jr. photo)

The Little Tigers will end their season by participating the following week in the Mercer County tournament.

Princeton was out of contention against Ewing almost as soon as the game began, as the home team bolted to a 21-2 advantage at the end of the first period. It was 33-8 at the half.

Three players accounted for all of Princeton's scoring — another season low. Khalil Abdul-Karim had 10 points, Tom Shockley eight and freshman Evan Moorhead, six.

Earlier, eight players scored against visiting McCorristin but the only question in this game was how high the powerful Iron Mikes wanted to run up the score.

McCorristin waited until the second period to shift its attack into high. The Mikes blitzed PHS, 31-5, in the second eight minutes of play to coast to their 15th win in 17 outings. The final count was 89 to 44.

Shockley followed his 36-point career-high performance against Peddie by connecting for 18 against McCorristin to tie the victors' Corey White for game-high honors. Danny Page and Brian Williams each added six points for PHS, while Scott Blinder, Abdul-Karim, Anthony White, Moorhead and Ben Stentz also scored for PHS.

PDS Five Nips Newark, 38-34, for Second Victory

It hasn't been the best of seasons for the Princeton Day boys' basketball team, but the Panthers will cherish the memories of last Friday's win over Newark Academy in Livingston. Prior to the loss, the Minutemen had won 11 of 15 games, and were undefeated in Prep B competition.

Obviously coach Mike Herr felt it was the best four quarters his 2-8 Panthers had played so far, and he is hoping it will carry over to home games this Wednesday against St. Joe's and Friday against Medford Vo-Tech.

Herr particularly liked the

Swartz Sixth at Millrose

Running in the prestigious 82nd Millrose Games last week in New York's Madison Square Garden, Princeton High senior Karin Swartz finished sixth in a field of nine in the girls high school mile event. Her time was 5:05 72.

The event was won by Sarah Schwald of Liberty High in Colorado Springs, Col., who set a new Millrose record of 4:49.94.

Obscured by the figures was a resolute performance by Swartz who was running despite a stress fracture of her left heel and a bout with the flu. That plus the caliber of the competition (the nine best female milers in the country) combined to make it, allowed Swartz, "the toughest meet I've ever run."

While Swartz did not win, nor did she expect to, she did accomplish one of her pre-race goals: not to finish last. She moved up about midway through the event and maintained her sixth position for the remainder of the race.

Swartz is the first student ever from PHS to compete in the Millrose Games.

play of three of the freshmen on the team, the hope for the future of PDS basketball. James Reed hit a game-high 16 points to lead the Blue and White, and Harvey Bradley and Gary Moore played well defensively, putting constant pressure on the Newark Academy guards. Bradley was credited with five steals.

PDS wasted no time, gaining a 16-6 advantage at the end of the first quarter. At the half it was 24-15, and Herr warned his players the home team would come out roaring to start the second half. PDS met the challenge, and though it was outscored over the final two periods, hung on for a 38-34 triumph. NA closed to within two near the end, but Chris Jones hit two free throws to keep PDS ahead. Jones added 13 points and Scott Kelberg had six.

Earlier last week, PDS lost a 56-45 decision to Pennington. The Raiders, 10-9, led 27-19 at the intermission, and extended that margin in each of the last two periods. Jones and Reed scored 15 apiece for PDS.

Triumph and Defeat: PHS Swimmers Split

In two dual meets last week, the Princeton High boys' and girls' swimming teams defeated Nottingham on Thursday after both had lost to rival West Windsor two days earlier.

The Mercer County diving championships will be held this Wednesday at the Hamilton West pool and the County Swimming Meet will be held this weekend at the West Windsor pool with preliminary heats set for the boys on Thursday and the girls on Friday. The finals will be held on Saturday.

The Little Tiger boys piled up points by taking a lot of seconds and thirds to defeat Nottingham, 83-72, for their third win of the season.

David Schivell won the 100 free in 1:00.98 while Scott Petrone won the 100 back in 1:13.27 and Pat Keran took the 100 breast in 1:22.47. Brian Hsiang, John Meslin, Mark Lonski and Stephen Laudau combined to win the 200 medley relay in 2:15.53. The Northstars won the 400 free relay and all other events including the diving but were unable to overcome Princeton's depth.

Pool records in the Nottingham pool fell like autumn leaves in the girls' meet, won by Princeton, 100-71.

Freshman Ashley Dixon set two. She won the 200 IM in 2:32.55, breaking the previous pool record of 2:36.36 set this year by Kristen Bojanic of Hightstown, and the 100 fly in 1:10.95, shattering the pool record of 1:13.62 set in 1985 by an East Brunswick swimmer.

Princeton's Danielle Devereux won the 400 free in 4:47.0 to eclipse the previous Nottingham pool standard of 4:50.65 set in 1986 and her own PHS record of 4:52.5.

Veteran Kate Ashley captured the 100 back in a new pool record of 1:11.48. The previous mark of 1:14.35 was established in 1986.

Heather Tamm doubled for PHS, taking the 50 free in 29.17 and the 100 free in 1:03.9. Devereux also won two events when she finished first in the 200 free in 2:20.8. Kristin Swartz won the diving and Princeton also captured the 400 free relay behind Ashley Dixon, Rachel Medina, Devereux and Tamm.

West Windsor, as expected, had too many guns for the Little Tiger boys' team, as the Pirates swept every event. It was the victors' 12th win without a loss.

Schivell managed thirds in 100 and 200 free, Ben Giradet claimed a third in the 50 free, and Meslin a third in the 100 breast. Princeton's Chris Georges finished third in the diving competition to prevent a WW sweep in that event.

Dixon and Tamm. Ashley Dixon and Tamm were the lone PHS swimmers to buck the West Windsor girls' team, who won their 10th victory in 11 starts with a 113-60 triumph.

The Pirates' Alicia Awbrey set a new WW record in the 100 fly with a time of 1:01.97, to better the previous WW school standard of 1:02.48 set by Joyce Shu in 1987. Good as that was, it was only good enough for second place. Princeton's Ashley Dixon won the event with a glittering 1:01.6 — to claim the top time in the County area.

The PHS freshman, who seems destined to rewrite the PHS record book time and again before she graduates, also outswam Jen Goldin and Joanna Hughes of WW to win the 100 fly with a sizzling 2:17.9 — ten seconds faster than Goldin's second-place 2:27.9.

Tamm was pre-eminent in her two specialties, winning the 50 free in 26 seconds flat and the 100 free in 56.2.

Taking seconds for PHS were Devereux in both the 200 free and 500 free and Becky Jones in diving.

Led by Cook's Hat Trick CJ Skaters Win 9th, 7-3

Paced by Steve Cook's three goals, the Central Jersey Hockey Club defeated the Valley Forge Colonials, 7-3, last week at Baker Rink. The win left CJ on top in the southern division of the Commuters' League with a 6-1 mark and a 9-1 overall record.

In its next start, CJ will oppose second-place Beacon Hill Hockey Club on Saturday at 7:30 in Summit.

Four other players added single goals in the win over Valley Forge: John Cook, Colie Donaldson, Gih Johnson and Tony Rosetty, who doubles as the team's general manager. Arch Reid and Mark Mayer each contributed a pair of assists and goalie Mike Pollack had 18 saves.

Central Jersey, which has played more games than any of the other six teams in the southern division, has a 6-1 record. Beacon Hill at 3-2 and Princeton Hockey Club at 3-3 are its closest pursuers. Essex Hunt Club is 2-2, Wissahickon Skating Club is 2-4 and Valley Forge occupies the cellar at 2-5.

Good Sports Takes Lead In Dillon Basketball

Good Sports, sponsored by G.R. Murray Insurance, defeated H. Gross Outfitters, 34-12, last week in a battle between unbeaten teams in the junior division of the Princeton Youth Basketball League. Forcal Wooten, Tremayne Freeman and Tracy Wade excelled for the victors.

In other junior action, Amid Prakash scored 17 points to lead Commodities Curporation to a win over Church & Dwight, despite solid performances hy Geoff Spies and Reggie Wright, and Mason, Griffin and Pierson stopped Princeton Mortgage, 22-11, behind the play of Marcel Lemar, Steven Lutkowski and Justin Henderson. Eric McEwen excelled for the losers.

In senior division action, Princeton Hardware lost, 50-38, to the Hamilton All Stars, who were paced by Mike Warner's 23 points. Bram Reynolds led Princeton Hardware with 19.

Courtney Fitch connected for 12 points and John Procaccini and David Dickson combined for 20 more to lead Princeton Youth Sports to a 53-21 victory over Chapin School

18th Season for League. Sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department in cooperation with Princeton University, the Dillon Youth Basketball League has started its 18th season. This year, the league has six junior division teams for players 10 to 12 and two senior teams for players 13 and 14. Games are played Saturday mornings at Dillon Gym on the University campus.

A first this year for the league are corporate sponsors from the Princeton community. They are Commodities Corporation, H. Gross Outfitters, G.R. Murray Insurance, Masnn, Griffin and Pierson, Princeton Mortgage Corporation, Church & Dwight, Princeton Hardware and Princeton Youth Sports.

Hun Hopes to Rebound Against HV, Larries

According to T. S. Eliot, April is the cruelest month. So far, for the Hun basketball team it's been January.

After going 8-2 in December, Hun saw its record for January slip to 3-6 with two more losses last week to Pingry and Steinert. What made it more agonizing for Hun coach Kevin Long is the fact that Hun was in both games but could not pull out a "W".

Hun will try to rebound with a contest this Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 against rival Lawrenceville School on the Larries' home court. It is one of two games that were postponed a week ago when Hun had to close because of widespread flu at the school.

Hun will oppose West Windsor next Wednesday, the 15th, at the Pirates's gym. The game with Lawrence High will not be played, Hun athletic director Bill Quirk said this week.

Hun will wind up its regular season on the 21st when it hosts George School

---

Steinert (9-7) clinched a berth in the NJSIAA Group 3 State competition with its 53-46 win over Hun. The Spartans got 36 points from backcourt guards Bill Rebbeck and Bob Britton. Rebbeck, Mercer County's leading scorer with a 23-point average, tossed in 22 points and dished out nine assists, while Britton canned 14 points Steinert led, 25-22, at the half.

Hun received most of its points from Greg Cygan, who led Hun with 13 points, nine coming off a trio of three-pointers, and Matt Hyldahl, who hit for 12.

Two days later, on Friday, Hun trailed Pingry 47-46 at the start of the final period. Enter Pingry's Scott Aimetti. Aimetti poured in 10 of his game-high 26 points in the final period to lead the Buccaneers to a 66-59 victory over visiting Hun, their 11th in 16 games.

Cygan was high again for Hun with 18 followed by Jeff Mayer's 13 and Deon Hames's 10. Pat Murphy and Mike Williams each added eight for Hun.

Hun Surprises Hopewell With 78-69 Monday Win

Let's see ... Jeff Clancy poured in 30 points, Joe Conefry hit for 19, 6-5 Tim Van Dyke added 15 ... another big game for Hopewell Valley in the making and its second win over Hun. Better check with Hun, however, before adding another W — number 15 — to the Bulldog win column.

In what had to be one of its most satisfying games of the season, Hun surprised visiting Hopewell Monday night, 78-69, to end a three-game losing streak and avenge an earlier seven-point loss to Hopewell in December in the first Coaches Classic Tournament at Hopewell Valley High.

While Hopewell got all those points from Clancy, Conefry and Van Dyke, it received only five more from the rest of its squad. Hun, meanwhile, was doing some heavy hitting of its own, especially from the foul line where it converted 34 of 45 chances, including a glittering 22 of 28 in the final period when the Raiders stole the game from HV.

Hopewell, 14-5 entering the game, had grabbed a 19-14 lead at the end of the first period. But Hun, paced by the shooting of Greg Cygan, tied it at 37 at the half.

The third period was almost even with Hun enjoying a two-point margin, but in the final period, Hun's steady march to the free throw line was the difference.

The Hun attack was more balanced. It featured four in double figures, led by Cygan's 27 — his second best night of the season — 16 by Ted Curvy — his second best performance — 11 points by Mike Willams and 10 by freshman Dion Hames. RaShawne Glenn, another freshman, added nine and captain Pat Murphy had five points.

The win left Hun with a 14-8 mark with two regular season games left to play.

Soccer Tryouts for '77s Set

The Princeton Soccer Association is forming a new 1977 traveling team for the spring to play in the Central Jersey Soccer League. Interested boys and girls who were born on or after January 1, 1977, should call coach Ted Terpstra at 924-8243.

The team, which will be called the Princeton A-1 Limousines, will compete against other Mercer County teams, including Lawrence, Hamilton and West End. League games will be held Sunday afternoons from mid-March through mid-May.

Princeton residency is not a requirement for team membership. Tryouts will be held before the end of February

Hun Matmen Outclassed By Larries and Peddie

Hun mentor Jim Nehlig knew his wrestling team was outclassed by Peddie but he admitted that the 58-11 margin rolled up by Lawrenceville on Saturday was something of a surprise.

Lawrenceville had won only twice before its match with Hun and Nehlig felt Hun had a shot in this one. "I had a feeling we would lose the first couple of weights but there were one or two in the middle I thought we would be able to take and then at the end I was shocked.

"They got the ball rolling and their kids were pumped up. They wanted it," summed up Nehlig. The visiting Larries rolled to a 48-0 margin before Hun's Josh Waxman scored a 15-0 technical fall over Andrew Quinn in his 160-pound match to remain unbeaten this season with a 14-0 record.

Hun junior Mark Wynkoop, who was able to break into the lineup when Waxman moved down a weight, pinned the Larries' John Duncan in 1:44. Wynkoop attended Lawrenceville last year and Nehlig commented it was like a homecoming for him. "It was nice to see him win in front of his old teammates."

Hun ended on a down note, however, when its 189-pounder, Harrison Rosenthal, and heavyweight Alex Whitman, two of its better wrestlers, both lost. Rosenthal dropped a 3-1 decision and Whitman was pinned in 1:31 by Malik Kaman.

The loss was Hun's seventh against five wins and only Lawrenceville's third dual meet win in 12 matches.

Like Lawrenceville, Peddie rolled to a commanding 47-0 lead before Waxman ended the Falcons' string in his 160-pound match. As it was, Waxman barely got past Peddie freshman John Speck, in winning a 3-2 decision. Rosenthal and Whitman both won by forfeit as Hun bowed, 53-15.

After two opening forfeits, Peddie captured every match from 119 to 152 pounds, a string that included five pins and a technical fall. The win was Peddie's tenth of the season.

Hun will host a strong Blair team this Wednesday, February 8, at 3:30, and end its regular season the following Wednesday against Bristol High. A scheduled meet with Princeton High on Thursday has been cancelled.

Nehlig said that Hun will also compete in the Mercer County tournament this weekend, where Waxman should be one of the top seeds.

Design Forum

Eileen B. Saums, Allied Member, A.S.I.D. speaks on Can You Get Furniture That's Both Practical and Beautiful?

At one time, home makers with small children or pets who wanted practical furniture had to settle for furnishings that weren't always the last word in beauty; and, by the same token, furniture that was beautiful was often fragile and not practical for a growing family because you always had to be careful, and worry about it.

But, today there is in the home furnishings field a concept of "practical beauty" – and those two words are not contradictory. Beautiful things CAN be practical and practical things CAN be beautiful.

Just one reason for this change are soil-resistant fabrics that have been developed over the years.

But that's not all. Manufacturers have been able to produce elegant furniture without the fragile construction of other years, and at the same time, they've been able to truthfully say that built-in ruggedness in a piece does not prevent it from being beautiful and graceful.

Thus, today you can enjoy the best of both worlds as never before. You don't have to settle for fragile furniture if you want beauty, and you don't have to sacrifice beauty if you want sturdy, easy-to-care-for furniture.

To see a good selection of beautiful furniture, come and see us.

RELIGION

Bulletin Notes

St. Paul's Church and the Aquinas Institute are sponsoring a series of lectures by worldwide scholars on the theme, "The Bible and its Environment." The lectures will begin Thursday, February 16, and continue through May. They will begin at 8 in the meeting room on the main floor of St. Paul's School.

The first speaker is Prof. John G. Gager of the Department of Religion at Princeton University. A specialist in early Christianity and the origins of religion, he will speak on "Christians and Jews in the New Testament." Prof. Gager is the author of many articles and books, including The Origins of Anti-Semitism, published by Oxford University Press, which is concerned with attitudes toward Judaism in pagan and Christian antiquity.

Millard Fuller, founder and executive director of Habitat for Humanity, will be the guest preacher Sunday at the 11:00 a.m. worship service at the Princeton University Chapel's annual Christian Renewal Service. He will speak on "The Economics of Jesus."

A graduate of Auburn University, Mr. Fuller received an L.L.B. degree from the University of Alahama in 1960 and has since received a number of honorary degrees. Before founding Habitat for Humanity, he was a businessman and entrepreneur, as well as a practicing lawyer.

From 1968-72, as director of Koinonia Partners, Inc., Mr. Fuller directed an extensive housing and community development project for poor families in Americus, Georgia. In 1973 he became the director of development for the Church of Christ in the Equator Region of Zaire, Africa, where he and his family worked as missionaries until 1976. After returning to Koinonia Farm in 1976, he conceived the idea of building houses for the poor using biblical economics — seeking no profit and charging no interest and founded Habitat for Humanity.

Habitat has now built more than 3,000 homes in North America and in developing countries.

Harold Shapiro, President of Princeton University will speak on "Preparing for the 90's: Education and Ethics" Sunday, February 26, at 11:30 at the Jewish Community Center of Belle Mead, 253 Griggstown Road, Belle Mead.

Dr. Shapiro, who received his Ph.D. in economics from Princeton in 1964, was elected to his present post in January, 1988. He had previously served as president of the University of Michigan for eight years. He will be accompanied by his wife, Vivian, an authority in the area of infant mental health.

Reservations for this special program may be made by sending a donation in the form of a check payable to the Jewish Community Center of Belle Mead, P.O. Box 211, Belle Mead 08502. Tickets are $8 per adult, $4 for each child age 12 and under. Space permitting, tickets will also be available at the door. Refreshments will be served following the program.

For directions to the Jewish Center, call (201) 359-0402.

The Rev. Dr. Ernest Gordon, former dean of the Princeton University Chapel and president of CREED (Christian Rescue Effort for the Emancipation of Dissidents), will begin a discussion on the Book of Hebrews this Sunday evening at 7:30 in the main lounge of the Mackay Student Center, Princeton Theological Seminary. The sessions will continue on February 26, March 12 and 26, April 9 and May 7.

Overcomers Fellowship, held at Montgomery Evangelical Free Church, invites the public to a film series by Dr. Larry Crabb of Grace Theological Seminary entitled "Inside Out." Overcomers is a group that meets each Saturday morning at 9 at the church to talk, pray, study the Bible and encourage each other toward victory over bad habits and problem behaviors.

The series deals with change and how a person needs to work from the "Inside Out" to accomplish meaningful change in one's life. The films are free and will be shown at 7:30 Friday evenings at the church on Griggstown Road, starting Friday, February 17.

The title of the first film is Don't Look Inside Me — I'm Not Sure I Like What's There. The film for February 24 is I Don't Want to Admit It — But I Know Something's Wrong.

On March 3 the film, Even When I Get What I Want, It's Not What I Want. The final film, to be shown March 10 is How Can I Make It, If I Face All That's Going On Inside?

Farrakhan

sity community about Mr. Farrakhan and encourage dialogue between black and Jewish groups on campus.

On Monday night, about 100 students met to discuss whether Mr. Farrakhan should have been allowed to speak. Several said they were offended by OBU's invitation to him, describing Mr. Farrakhan as an anti-semite.

Some students said Mr. Farrakhan's image as an anti-semite is based on quotes taken out of context, but Hillel director Rabbi Edward Feld differed.

"When someone calls Hitler a great man," he said, "or calls Judaism a gutter religion, and someone else says you have to understand the context of the comments, that in itself is a hateful comment."

The projected visit had led to concern by Princeton clergy. In a letter to the press, the Rev. Michael C.R. Nabors, pastor of First Baptist Church and president of the Princeton Clergy Association, wrote that the association had written Mr. Farrakhan that they are opposed to all forms of anti-semitism and other barriers that prevent human community.

"It is our hope that there will be no anti-semitic remarks made by you on February 12," the letter stated. "Our organization is committed to the spirit of ecumenism and inter-faith that presents great opportunity for human dialogue and unity."

OBITUARIES

Memorial Event Set For Beatrice Gould

There will be an open house Saturday from 3 to 5 at the Gould residence on Bedens Brook Road in celebration of the life of Beatrice Blackmar Gould, who died January 30.

Mrs. Gould was co-editor with her husband Bruce of the Ladies Home Journal for 27 years. In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Sesaly B. Krafft, five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Anne D. Goldsmith Hereford, 70, of Mountain Avenue, died February 5 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Orange, Mrs. Hereford was a volunteer at Princeton Medical Center for several years. She was also a founder of the Monday Lunch group.

Surviving are her husband, Brice H. Hereford; three sons, William G. of Arlington, Mass., Keith F. of Bainbridge Island, Wash., and Brice O. Hereford of Salem, Mass.; a grandson, and three sisters, Mrs. George Wyeth of Chevy Chase, Md., Mrs. Roger Kirkpatrick of Princeton, and Mrs. Coleman Donaldson of Gloucester, Va.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at 11 at Trinity Church. Memorial contributions may be made to the Medical Center at Princeton, 253 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540.

Elizabeth Ward Brown, 84, of 117 Hunt Drive died February 3 at home after a yearlong illness.

Born in La Crosse, Wisc., Mrs. Brown earned a B.A. degree in English literature in 1926 from the University of Iowa. She taught high school for several years in Wisconsin and Montana and then pursued graduate studies at the University of Wisconsin where she met her late husband, Dr. George H. Brown, who died in 1987.

Dr. and Mrs. Brown had lived in Princeton since 1942 where Dr. Brown was with the RCA Corporation for 40 years.

Mrs. Brown waas an accomplished Impressionist painter, having studied for many years under Hannah Cutler Groves in Haddonfield and Hobson Pittman at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Her work was represented in several private and group shows, and her oil paintings, mainly of flowers, are in private collections worldwide.

Mrs. Brown is survived by a brother, Theodore W. Ward, of Fort Myers, Fla.; twin sons, George H. Brown, Jr. of Princeton and James W. Brown of Ann Arbor, Michigan; and two grandsons. She was a longstanding member of the Present Day Club and the Women's College Club of Princeton.

A graveside memorial service will be held Saturday, March 4, at 11 a.m. in Princeton Cemetery. The Rev. Dr. James I. McCord will officiate. Arrangements are under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made in Mrs. Brown's memory to the Development Office, Graduate Hospital, 19th and Lombard streets, Philadelphia, Pa., 19146.

Charles E. Brown Sr., 73, died January 31 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Catawba County, N.C., Mr. Brown lived in Monmouth Junction for many years before moving to Princeton four years ago. He was retired from Springdale Golf Club. He was a member of Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church and its financial committee.

Husband of the late Bernice D. Brown and father of the late Charles E. Brown Jr., he is survived by a brother, George Brown of Willingboro; four sisters, Mattie Davis of Trenton, Sarah Phillips of Hightstown, Venezuela Waller of Roanoke, Va., and Helen Taylor of Wilmington, Del.; four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The service was held at Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church, the Rev. David B. Cousin, pastor, officating. Burial was in Franklin Memorial Park Cemetery, North Brunswick.

Maria Heredia, 97, of West Windsor, died February 4 at home. Born in Riobamba, Ecuador, Mrs. Heredia came to the United States 25 years ago and was a resident of Brooklyn, N.Y., before moving to West Windsor a year ago.

She was a member of St. David the King Roman Catholic parish in West Windsor.

Surviving are a son, Modesto Arboleda of Brooklyn; two daughters, Mercedes Bustamante of New York and Luz Vallejo of Lawrenceville; 14 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Paul's Church with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the building fund of St. David the King Church, 517 Village Road West, Box 717, Princeton Junction 08550.

Louis Limperakis of Pine Street died February 5 at his home.

Born in Bradford, Pa., Mr. Limperakis lived in Princeton for 30 years and was a graduate of Rider College. He was the manager of the former King's Court restaurant on Witherspoon Street for five years.

Surviving are his wife, Joan Thomson Limperakis and many nieces and nephews.

The service will be held Friday at 2 at the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. The Rev. Demtrios N. Calogrades, pastor of St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Hamilton Township, will officiate. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home. Trisagin services will be at 8 p.m.

Mae Doyle, 77, of West Windsor, died February 4 at St. Francis Medical Center, Trenton. Born in New York City, she had lived in this area for 15 years.

Surviving are a son, Tim Doyle of Wappingers Falls, N.Y.; a daughter, Catherine Doyle Brower of West Windsor; and four grandchildren.

The service will be held Thursday at 8:45 a.m. from the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Friends may call this Wednesday, February 8, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Anna Eusebietti, 93, died February 6 at the Foothills Nursing Home, Neshanic. Born in Ivrea, Italy, she had been a resident of the Princeton area for more than 50 years.

Wife of the late Joseph Eusebietti, she is survived by two daughters, Elsie Osborne of Somerville and Alma Williams of Princeton; six grandchildren, and a sister, Maria Marchisio of New York.

The service and burial will be private. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Henry R. Sutphin, 68, of Skillman, died February 4 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Sutphin was a lifelong area resident. He retired in 1985 as manager of Agway in Hightstown. He was an exempt member of the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company, a member of the Firemen's Bowling League, the Princeton Quoit Club and the First Reformed Church of Rocky Hill.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Lemore Sutphin; a son, Robert H. Sutphin of Winter Haven, Fla.; a daughter, Robin E. Bedford of Princeton; five grandchildren; and two sisters, Edna Smith of Plainsboro and Margaret Mount of Plainsboro.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with burial in Rocky Hill Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Co., Washington Street, Rocky Hill, or a blood donation may be made to the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

SPRAY OILS ARE BACK -

With Sam deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

Oil sprays for the control of insects are back in the limelight They are one of the oldest insecticides. Mixtures containing coal oil were used as far back as the 1860's. Oil based sprays were in common use in the '20's but with not always predictable results. Modern chemistry, plus research, has overcome the old hazards and improve effectiveness of today's refined oils. Oil sprays, both summer and winter, kill the eggs of mites, aphids, cankerworms, webworms and leaf hopper and control some adults, too. Kill is accomplished by the deposit of a minute amount of paraffin that interferes with the breathing or gas exchange of the egg or insect. Spray oils have advantages over some of the chemical insecticides. They are non-poisonous to people, pets and birds. They are rapidly biodegradable, nearly odorless and have no lasting effect on the environment. As with all sprays, though, there are limitations Plants suffering from drought may be sensitive and a few varieties should be avoided. Call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for your Dormant Oil Spray in March.

Brand New Old Mansions.

When you really know how to live well, the last thing you need to do is deal with turn-of-the century plumbing. What you need is a brand new old mansion. Something that combines the gracious living of the past with the latest conveniences of today.

And that's exactly what you'll find at Andrews-Foulet. Our Classic Homes feature all the modern amenities you could possibly want. But we surround these amenities with Old World standards of architectural design and craftsmanship. Standards other builders only offer as an option.

We consider these standards essential. As essential as placing each Andrews-Foulet Classic Home on beautiful wooded land that is surrounded by dedicated permanent open space.

Because at The Yedlin Company, we know how to bring the Old World into the real world.

Andrews-Foulet Princeton. The Old World in the real world. Our Classic Homes are priced from $690,000.

For information, or to come and inspect the quality of our Classic Homes while they're being built, please call our sales office (609) 921-1928.

Brookstone Drive
New Listing

So near — you can use the bicycle path for a trip to town. So far — you can skate in the winter and fish in the summer in your own pond. Two acres of tall pines and flowering fruit trees create a secluded country estate. The numerous and spacious rooms of this handsome multi-level house have flexibility for different life styles. The gracious living areas include — the living room with fireplace, dining room, large screened porch, country kitchen and a family room with second fireplace and half bath. A few steps up — three rooms and 2 baths can be a luxurious master suite or accommodate family members. Three additional rooms and bath offer privacy as bedrooms or studies. $675,000

Peyton

NEW LISTING ... This spacious cedar and stone residence blends both the contemporary with the serenely traditional to create an unusual blend that will delight you. The light and airy contemporary design is complemented by the comfortable proportions and flowing floor plan of a traditional colonial. There are ten spacious rooms including living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, family room and a study or fourth bedroom and full bath on the first floor. Upstairs there is a magnificent master bedroom suite with sitting room, fireplace, master bath with Jacuzzi and skylight, 2 other family bedrooms and bath. This professionally landscaped property borders a private wooded area and is enhanced by a 600 square foot deck. Superb features too numerous to mention here are to be found in this magnificent Pennington home.

BRAND NEW LISTING WITH OLD WORLD CHARM ... Do come and see this 200-year-old vintage colonial with its architectural history. The rooms are gracious and of a generous size. There is an exquisite Victorian marble fireplace in the dining room and an impressive brick fireplace with molded and bracketed mantel in the living room. The sweeping hallway, on both first and second floors, is impressive and the 4 bedrooms oversized. There are French doors opening to sunroom and screened porch, as well as plaster walls, slate roof and a blue stone patio. The exterior is beautifully graced with huge old pine and broadleaf trees and a wisteria arbor. The elan of yesterday for today's living.

New Listing

"Williamsburg" — a magic word that conjures up visions of the charming architecture of Colonial days and the pastel colors so popular then. This delightful house, a story and a half, epitomizes that tradition. On one plus beautiful acres, a circular drive leads to a blue door flanked by handsome brass carriage lamps. The inviting foyer opens to the living room with fireplace, formal dining room, modern kitchen with breakfast area adjoining a wonderful family room with a second fireplace, both opening to a large brick terrace. A room for guests or an au pair has its own bath. The master bedroom with bath and two other bedrooms, each with bath, complete the first floor. Upstairs, two huge all purpose rooms with bath are now a bedroom and a recreation room. Special features include tall windows and artistic moldings inside and out. A thoughtful owner has created a perfect home for happy family living. $465,000
